

LAND MANAGEMENT

Questions for launching the discussion

1. Sound land management, complex planning questions and land-related problems that need to be addressed by many countries certainly need an integrated and holistic approach. Which institutional requirements at national, regional and local level should be met in countries across the ECE region for dealing with integrated land management and land administration problems in an appropriate and most efficient manner?
2. In implementing strategies for reaching some of the UN Millennium Development goals until 2015, land management, land administration and spatial data infrastructures have a very important role to play. How best can land management tools be used to overcome the obstacles on our way to achieve the MDG?
3. Environmental problems as well as integrated land-related problems do not necessarily come to a halt at the borders of countries and often require an international approach. How can international cooperation and experience exchange support the efforts made towards guaranteeing sustainable development, implementation of sound land policies and efficient land management?
