THE EVENT

Starting from the achievements of the R.A.V.E. Space Project, the Final Conference will represent the occasion to debate the relevance of educational processes in the enhancement of common knowledge on spatial planning and values of space as a basis for developing skills for an active and responsible citizenship.

The Conference will gather together the relevant stakeholders - from teachers to experts and spatial planners, from central and local authorities to international organisations, from NGOs to media - in order to discuss the ways and means for a step-by-step integration of concepts of sustainable spatial development into the regular educational process of schools at European level.

THE PROJECT

R.A.V.E. Space Project – Raising Awareness of the Values of Space through the Process of Education – deals with the issue of how topics of spatial relevance can be included in the educational process at primary and secondary schools. The project area comprises nine partners from five countries (Greece, Italy, Montenegro, Poland, Slovenia) which have developed new educational tools and methodologies in line with the strategy elaborated during the Project implementation.

THE ORGANISERS

The R.A.V.E. Space Project Final Conference is co-organised by the Lead Partner, Ministry of the Environment and Spatial Planning of Slovenia, and the Partner responsible for project promotion, the Central European Initiative (CEI), with the support of the R.A.V.E. Space consortium.

The official working language of the Conference is English.

A second announcement and a draft programme will be published in September 2007.
