

UNECE Ministerial Conference on Ageing 2017

A society for all ages

Realizing the potential of living longer

Recognizing the Potential of Older Persons

Intergenerational and lifelong learning as a source for social capital and leading to more cohesive societies for all ages

Dr. Ann-Kristin Boström,

ENCELL –the National Centre for Lifelong Learning, Sweden

Intergenerational learning

Definition UNESCO 2000:

”Intergenerational programmes are vehicles for the purposeful and ongoing exchange of resources and learning among older and younger generations”

China, Cuba, Germany, Japan, the Netherlands, Palestine, South Africa, Sweden, the United Kingdom and the United States

Social capital

It is not a single concept, rather the concept of social capital is a compilation of various components. These have the following in common:

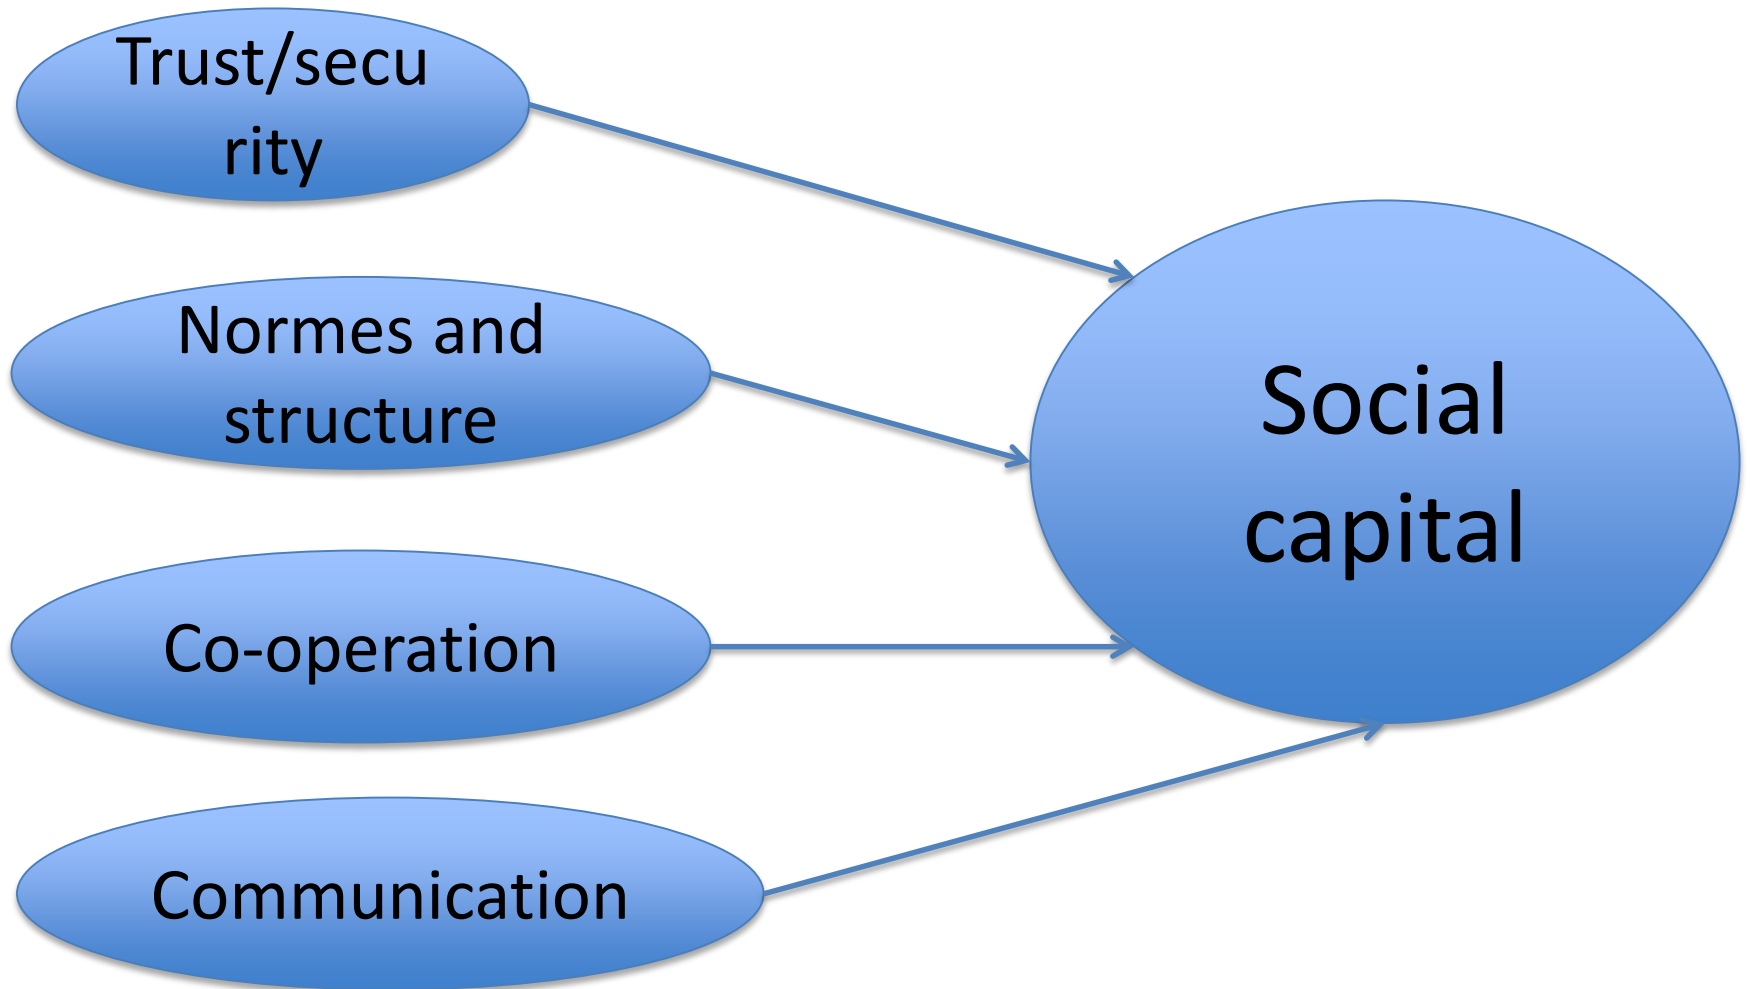

They consist of some form of social structure

They facilitate certain aspects of social structures

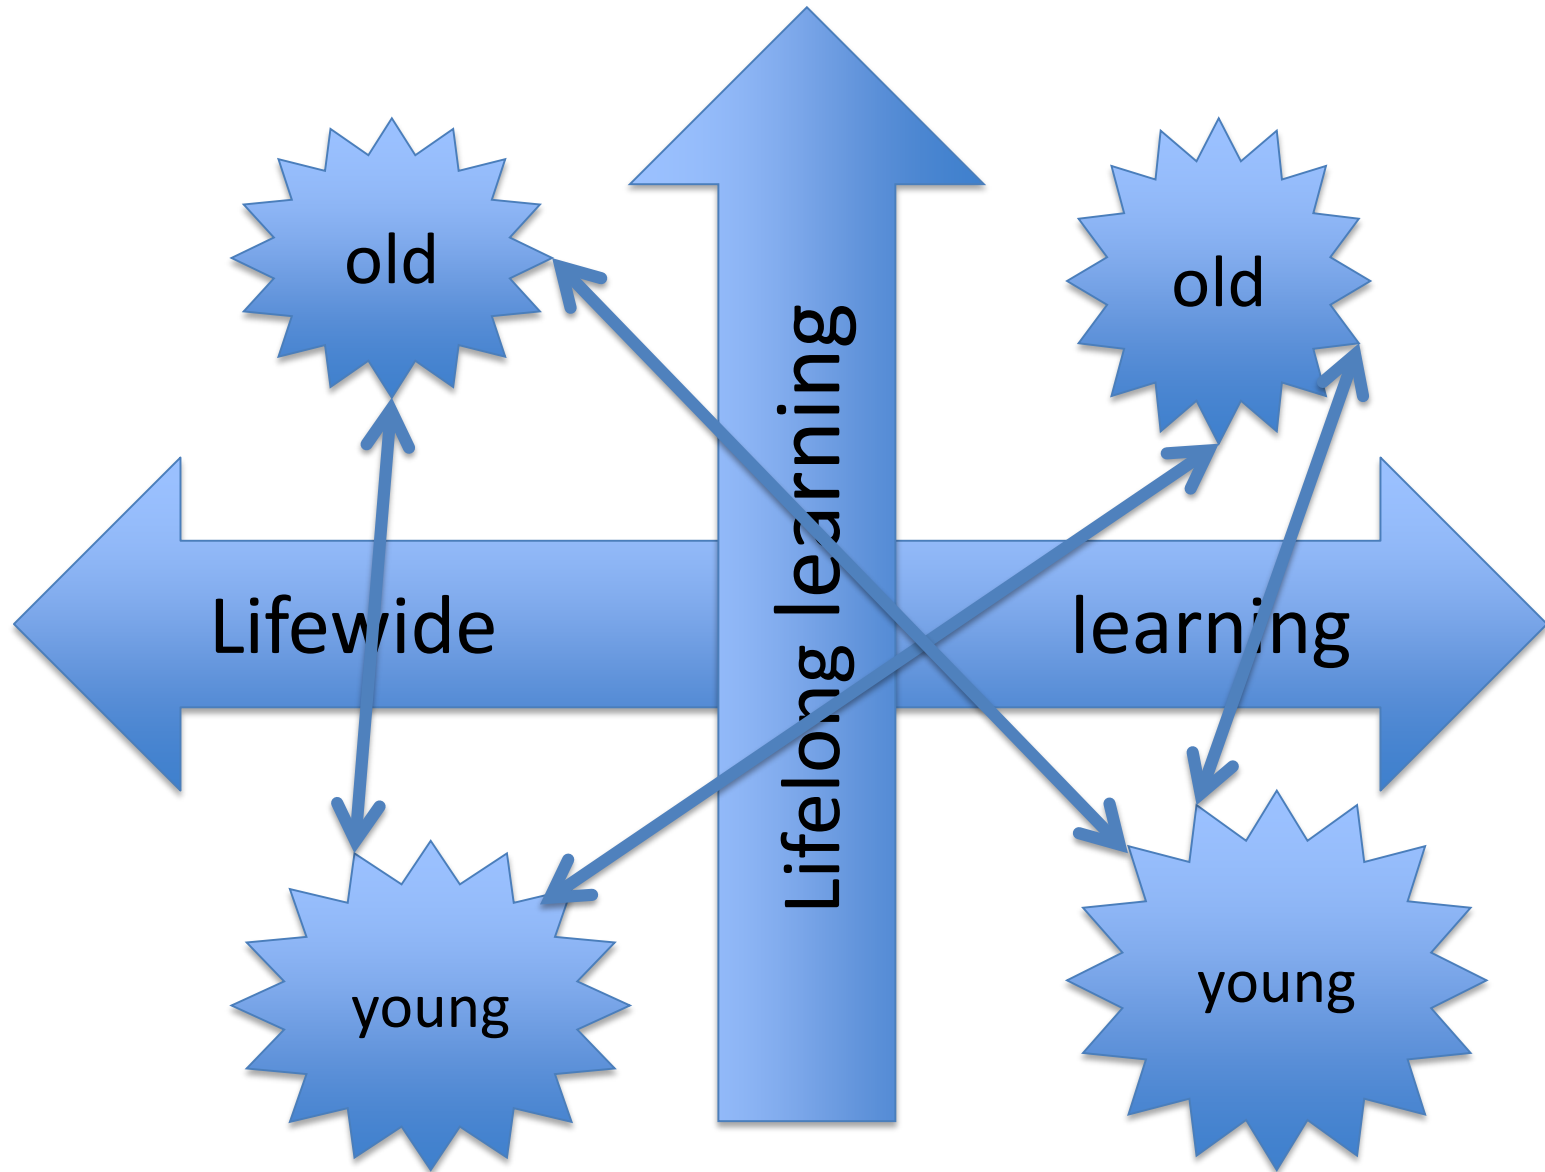

They facilitate certain responses on the part of various actors within the structure

Coleman (1988:98)
