

Global Facilitation Partnership for Transportation and Trade (GFP) 2015 Meeting

“The Role of Private Sector in Supporting the Implementation of the WTO Trade Facilitation Agreement”

22 April 2015, at 9:00, Room XXII, Palais des Nations, Geneva

Background

The World Trade Organization (WTO) Trade Facilitation Agreement (TFA) was adopted in December 2013 at the 9th WTO Ministerial in Bali, Indonesia. The Protocol of Amendment was subsequently adopted in November 2014. The TFA creates binding obligations for WTO members to conduct trade facilitation reforms by making trade processes more transparent and efficient in cooperation with border regulatory agencies and private sector. The Agreement also includes provisions for technical assistance and capacity building to support its implementation in developing and least developed countries (LDCs).

Developing countries and LDCs are currently in the process of self-designating, on an individual basis, all of the agreement's measures into one of the three following categories: provisions that will be implemented upon entry into force of the TFA (category A); measures requiring a transition period prior to their implementation (category B); and measures for which implementation needs both a transition period and external technical and financial assistance for implementation (category C).

The key international organizations active in trade facilitation have pledged to work together to support countries in this process and to assist in providing the necessary technical assistance, along with other players, for implementing the category C measures described above. The private sector, including small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), must also play an important role in this process as a key implementation partner and significant potential beneficiary.

Objective

This year, Meeting of the Global Facilitation Partnership for Transportation and Trade (GFP)¹ is organized by the UN Economic Commission for Europe (UNECE), in collaboration with the UN Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) and the International Trade Centre (ITC) and will take place in the Palais des Nations, Geneva, on 22 April 2015. The meeting will bring together representatives of the private sector, WTO Member States and international organizations to discuss how to best support and coordinate the implementation process of TFA. In particular, it will discuss how the private sector can contribute and share a leading role in such a process.

Participants

Private sector representatives from large corporations and SMEs; national government representatives, officials of international organizations and other relevant organizations and experts in trade facilitation.

Interpretation

Simultaneous interpretation will be provided in English, French and Russian.

¹ The Global Facilitation Partnership for Transportation and Trade (GFP) is an alliance of national and international organizations working on facilitating trade and transport facilitation worldwide. More information is available at: www.gfptt.org
