Rules and Practices of the Inter-European Trade in Potatoes

INTRODUCTION

The economic evolution of Europe requires an on-going adaptation of trading behaviour and in particular of the Rules and Practices of the profession.

The first European rules were established, as early as 1956, through the efforts of the European Union for the Wholesale Trade in Potatoes, which became EUROPATAT, in defining professional practices and setting up a simple and efficient procedure for expert assessments and arbitration, known ever since by the acronym RUCIP.

The formation in 1964 of the RUCIP EUROPEAN COMMITTEE, grouping together EUROPATAT and the Cooperatives of the European Confederation of Agriculture (C.E.A.), whose representative responsibilities had been taken over by INTERCOOP EUROPE, provided the justification for a new edition of RUCIP. This was taken in hand by the Committee who filled various gaps that had become apparent through trade practice. However, RUCIP had been set up only for trade between countries and could not be used for transactions within National boundaries.

When, in 1970 the European Union of Potato Processing Industries joined the RUCIP EUROPEAN COMMITTEE the common wish of the three organisations to standardise the different National codes, having in view a common European market and taking account of developments in the economic situation of potatoes, led the RUCIP EUROPEAN COMMITTEE to rework the Rules and Practices including the rules governing expert assessments and arbitration in 1972.

In 1986 the RUCIP EUROPEAN COMMITTEE decided to issue a modified edition of RUCIP - replacing the edition of 1972 - for all contracts referring to RUCIP concluded from 1st Sept. 1987. RUCIP has been modified in 1993 and in 2000.

All these consecutive modifications have made it necessary to simplify RUCIP and bring it up to date. This latest edition, RUCIP 2006, comes into force on 1st March 2006.

Without cancelling any National rules, which is in any case not within their powers, the three professional organisations:

- EUROPATAT 8, rue de Spa B – 1000 BRUSSELS, Belgium
- INTERCOOP EUROPE Postfach 480 CH-8302 KLOTEN, Switzerland
- THE EUROPEAN UNION OF POTATO PROCESSING INDUSTRIES
 8, rue de Spa B – 1000 BRUSSELS, Belgium who make up the RUCIP EUROPEAN COMMITTEE recommend all their members to use, for their National and European transactions, the current Rules and Practices and the Rules governing expert assessments and arbitration, whose code name remains RUCIP, under which name these rules have been tried and tested.

CHAPTER I

GENERAL ARRANGEMENTS

Article 1 Area of application

- 1.1. The following rules are, unless there is a contrary agreement, applicable to all potato business (sales, purchases, brokerage, commission, transport, storage, insurance, etc.) concluded by all contracting parties who make reference to them.
Any modifications which the parties may agree should be noted in writing.
- 1.2. The present Rules and Practices may be agreed for any transactions with or between contracting parties of countries who are not members of the European Committee.
- 1.3. The acceptance by the parties of these Rules and Practices implies, in case of dispute, exclusive recourse to arbitration under the conditions laid down in Article 31.
- 1.4. The code word RUCIP means, in written telecommunications (as defined in Annexe No. 1) and written communications (offers, confirmations or contracts, general conditions of sale or purchase, etc.), the express acceptance of the present Rules and Practices, including the compromise clause, as well as the Rules for expert assessment and Arbitration Rules.
- 1.5. In cases where RUCIP applies, all Treaties or International commercial conventions do not apply.

CHAPTER II

THE CONTRACT

Article 2 The offer ; Time limits for acceptance and confirmation

- 2.1 Unless otherwise stated, all offers are considered firm. The acceptance of a firm offer must be made to the offering party within the time limit fixed by them.
- 2.2 In the case of offers subject unsold, the offering party must give a confirmation to the accepting party within the time limit fixed by the latter.
- 2.3 In all cases, if the time limits have not been fixed, the acceptance or the confirmation should arrive within 18 working hours of the sending of the offer or the acceptance.

The limit of 18 working hours is reduced to 9 working hours if new potatoes are concerned. If the offer or acceptance is made by letter, the time limit for acceptance or confirmation of this shall be five working days from sending.

Article 3 The contract : conclusion and confirmation

- 3.1 Business may be concluded verbally or in writing, directly or through an intermediary. A contract is concluded as soon as the parties reach an agreement and this can be noted by any means.
- 3.2 A deal concluded verbally should be confirmed in writing by at least one of the contracting parties. The confirmation established by an intermediary is valid when none of the parties confirm themselves.
- 3.3 In all cases it is understood that the written text contains all the conditions agreed and that there is no outstanding verbal clause. Any verbal stipulations made after the conclusion of the contract should be confirmed without delay in writing and are considered as annexes to the contract.
- 3.4 Any disagreement with the written confirmation or the annexes should be made by written telecommunication within 9 hours of receipt. This time limit is reduced to 3 hours in the case of new potatoes.
- 3.5 When confirmations containing clauses with differences cross, that of the seller, or lacking it that of the intermediary, shall prevail, unless there is a protest by written telecommunication from the buyer within 9 hours of receipt.

Article 4 The contract : the objective, other clauses and reservations.

- 4.1 Apart from the reference to RUCIP, the contract will, in principle, stipulate : the names, domiciles and headquarters of the contracting parties, the nature of the goods, the quantity, the variety, the class, the size, the area², the origin, the price, the packaging, the place and period of delivery, the destination, the frost protection measures, the methods of dispatch and transport to be used, the methods of payment.
- 4.2 If it is not precisely stated otherwise, the price shall always be per 100 kgs, packaging included, frost protection not included. When business has been concluded on the day of dispatch, or the price is to be fixed on a particular day, the confirmation shall clearly define the basis on which the price will be calculated.
- 4.3 When the potatoes are contracted from a specific origin or region, they shall be delivered from that origin or originate from the stated region.
- 4.4 All the rules of the importing country with regard to quality, packaging and labelling of the goods, even if they are not mentioned in the contract, shall take precedence over any contrary clauses and over the RUCIP code. In the case of clauses contrary to these rules or modification of clauses after the conclusion of the contract, the buyer is responsible for any consequences that may arise, under the reservation that the buyer has informed the seller of them.
- 4.5 When a contract does not contain the reservation that statutory official documents be obtained, the buyer and/or the seller are responsible for the consequences which may arise if they do not have the required documents for the potatoes which are the subject of the contract. The reservation should state precisely the description of the document/s to which it applies.
- 4.6 The refusal or withdrawing of these documents cannot be considered as case for exemption in the sense of force majeure (article 27) unless it is a general measure, unforeseeable, of prohibition of export or import concerning the goods.
- 4.7 For the application of chapters V, VI, VII and VIII of the Rules and Practices of RUCIP, all partial deliveries shall be considered as separate deliveries.

Article 5 Fixed term contract

- 5.1 A fixed term contract is a contract which must include the phrase: "without extension" accompanying the dates and time limits fixed for the operations concerned. Its execution ends by simple right on the expiry of the time limits without being put in default by either seller or buyer.
- 5.2 All new potato business is considered as being through fixed term contracts, even without the mention "no extension".

² The French word used is "terrain" this can mean a specific district but also a land or soil type.

- 5.3 All business "on rail" or "on lorry" shall be considered as fixed term contracts, even without the mention "no extension". In these cases, the seller guarantees that the goods are actually loaded on the means of transport at the termination of the contract.
- 5.4 When a fixed term applies to the delivery time limit the contract should state the time limit within which the buyer should give instructions to the seller, this time limit may also be fixed.

Article 6 Definition of time limits - Time limits for execution

6.1 Unless otherwise provided for in these present Rules for the fixing of time limits it is understood as follows;

Hour	- legal hour from 0 to 24 h - including Saturdays, Sundays and official holidays
Day	- every day without exception from 0 to 24 h
Week	- a period of seven consecutive days without interruption
Official holiday	- a legal holiday in the whole of a country or in the region where the place a contractual event should happen. - official holidays in certain regions of a country.
	Potatoes other than new potatoes	New potatoes

6.2 Written telecommunications or written communications which arrive on a working day after 17 h, a Saturday, a Sunday, a National holiday or after 12 h on the eve of a holiday are considered to arrive on the first working day thereafter.

Such communications concerning new potatoes which arrive on Saturday after 12 h are considered to arrive on the first working day thereafter.

6.3 If the last day of a term defined in days falls on a Saturday, Sunday or National holiday (for new potatoes, on a Sunday or a National holiday), the term is extended to the first working day thereafter. If for new potatoes the last day is a National holiday which falls on a Saturday, the term is extended to 12 h on the first working day thereafter.

6.4 If the expiry of a time limit defined in hours falls on the eve of a National holiday after 12 h (for new potatoes a Saturday after 12 h or the eve of a holiday after 12 h), this time limit shall be interrupted on that day at 12 h; the remaining hours shall be counted from 8 h on the first working day thereafter.

- 6.5 If there is no condition to the contrary in the present Rules and Practices, or a special condition between the contractants, the time limits are counted without interruption, National holidays included.
- 6.6 The time limits for execution given in the present Rules and Practices do not include the day on which the contract is concluded, the day on which a written communication or telecommunication arrives at its destination, or the day on which goods are received, with the exception of those matters which must necessarily be settled on the same day.

Article 10 Ware potatoes

10.1 Ware potatoes are considered to be those harvested at full maturity and suitable for storage.

10.2 A lot should be composed of tubers graded through a square mesh riddle of the shape and appearance normal for the variety. A lot should remain in its normal composition Unless otherwise agreed, the minimum size is fixed at 35mm.

10.3 Subject to the tolerances allowed in the table below tubers should be:-

- whole
- healthy

11.1 Industrial potatoes for processing into food products for human consumption should show, on reception, the minimum qualities as below:-

- a) belong to the same variety, be:
 - healthy
 - firm
 - unsprouted
 - free of any abnormal smell or taste
- b) not be:
 - affected by common deep or superficial scab, when this covers more than a quarter of the surface of the tuber

 - frosted, greened, deformed, wizened, affected by wet or dry rot.

11.2 Deliveries should be free of earth (according to the agreement between the parties), stones and foreign bodies.

11.3 Potatoes are graded on a square mesh. Unless there is a special agreement the screening shall be from 35 mm and over for potatoes of "any origin"³. A lot should remain in its natural composition without the removal of a particular size fraction or the addition of out grades from other lots.

11.4 Tolerances:

- a) quality tolerances:

³ The French wording is "tout-venant" meaning goods from any source without definition as to variety, area of origin etc.

A maximum of 8% by weight of tubers not conforming to the minimum characteristics is tolerated. Nevertheless, within the limits of this tolerance, a maximum of 3% waste is allowed, of this a maximum of 2% tubers affected by dry or wet rot.

b) size tolerance:

A maximum 3% by weight of tubers below the minimum agreed size is allowed.

11.5 The reducing sugars content, the specific gravity or the starch content, and the maintenance of a predetermined temperature during the storage period and until delivery should be defined in each case in the contract terms. These will depend on the required end-product of the processing.

The contract terms may be:

- the number of tubers per 10 kgs, by size.
- the definition of defects (both minor and major) by number of tubers,
- the glassiness.
- The colour when cooked.

Article 12 Industrial potatoes destined for the production of alcohol or animal feed stuffs

12.1 These potatoes are delivered as harvested, without grading or the addition of out grade potatoes from other lots, sound, with a starch content of at least 15%.

At reception the deliveries should be free of frozen potatoes and waste matter such as earth, separated sprouts, stones and foreign bodies, as well as tubers affected by wet or dry rot.

12.2 The tolerances below are permitted (% by weight)

a) Waste 2%

Allowance if above 2%

Rejection if above 12%, or above 6% in the case wet rot.

b) Frozen tubers 10%, rejection if over

c) Damaged or wounded tubers 20%

Allowance if above this tolerance.

d) Tubers with diseases, which do not seriously affect the processing value (internal rust spot blackening, common scab, slight late blight) 20%. Allowance above this limit.

e) Green or strongly sprouted tubers.

The buyer has the right to claim and can set off against the value the costs of redressing as well as for loss in weight.

f) If a lot contains 25% or more potatoes which go through a riddle with square 28 mm mesh, hereafter called "out-grades", the following allowances apply:

Percentage of out-grades	Percentage of allowance
- from 25 to 30%	- 10%
- from 31 to 40%	- 15%
- from 41 to 50%	- 20%

If the proportion is over 50% the lot may be refused.

12.3 If the total of defects shown under b), c) and d) is over 20% the buyer has the right to refuse the delivery.

Article 13

Quantity

- 13.1 For delivery by lorry, the party giving the order for the transport must check that the quantity loaded does not exceed the total weight permitted for the vehicle.
- 13.2 For bulk loads, a tolerance of plus/minus 5% is allowed within the limit of the total weight permitted for the vehicle.
- 13.3 If the weight sold is only stated as - approximately (about), a delivery of plus or minus 5% is allowed within the limit of the total weight permitted for the vehicle.
- 13.4 If the contract states that the goods should be tarred by the buyer, the seller should deliver the quantity as a net weight.

Article 14

Weight

- 14.1 In the case of a load in packages (sacks, cartons, pallets, boxes, big bags, etc.) of uniform weight, the weight for the invoice should be the number of packages multiplied by the unit weight.
- 14.2 In the case of a bulk load, the net weight to be invoiced is that registered on departure being the difference between the weight of the vehicle loaded and the weight of the vehicle empty. If the difference of the tare is over 2%, the totality must be taken into account in full.
- 14.3 When the agreed weight to be loaded is not achieved (within the limits of Article 13.1) and there is a difference in cost for dead freight, this difference is for the seller's account.
- 14.4 Weight difference should be noted by the buyer on discharge. Claims for weight difference should be sent by the buyer to the seller or the intermediary by written telecommunication in the following time limits:-
 - a) in the case of missing packages from a rail delivery, or for unit weights which are not as agreed in the contract, or for underweight packages; as soon as it is noticed or, at the latest, 18 working hours after discharge. This limit also applies to new potatoes and for these only a global tolerance of 2% loss in weight is allowed. Any short weight greater than this should be claimed for as below:-

 - b) in the case of bulk delivery by rail, in the three working days after discharge;
 - c) in the case of delivery by lorry as soon as it has been observed and in the presence of the haulier or his representative.
- 14.5 The short weight should be noted on the CMR or the consignment note or any other official document and sent to the seller within 10 working days.
- 14.6 In the case of transport by rail the costs of weighing the wagon empty and loaded are to seller's account. The costs of check weighing at the station of discharge are to

- 17.4 Where frost protection is used, the door and ventilation ducts should be carefully blocked. For frost protections nos. 1, 2 and 3 defined in annex no. 2, the material used for the protection of the walls should be above the loaded height, so that it can be bent back over the load which should then be covered with insulating material.
- 17.5 Insulated vehicles do not have to be equipped with frost protection, except if specifically required by the buyer. Nevertheless, in order to avoid any contact with the potatoes, the internal metal parts (walls and floors) should be insulated with a layer of cardboard.
- 17.6 Any frost protection measures other than those detailed in annex no. 2 should be agreed specifically between the parties.
- 17.7 The following is understood by frost protection material: the insulating materials accepted by the RUCIP European Committee, and whose composition is detailed in annex no. 2.
- 17.8 Where a means of transport other than a rail wagon or a lorry is used, the type and material of the packaging as well as the type of vehicle should be agreed specifically by the parties.

CHAPTER IV

COSTS AND RISKS OF TRANSPORT

Article 18 Transport and allied costs

- 18.1 For sales "at point of despatch" the costs of transport are for the buyer's account. In the case of transport by lorry, it is understood that there will be one loading point in the region stated in the contract. If this is not the case, the extra transport costs are for the seller's account.
- 18.2 For sales "delivered to place of destination" the transport costs are for the seller's account. In the case of transport by lorry, it is understood that there will be one discharge point stated in the contract. If this is not the case the extra transport costs are for the buyer's account.
- 18.3 For sales "delivered border" ("franco frontière") all transport costs as far as the border are for the seller's account.
- 18.4 For sales "delivered specified border" ("franco frontière déterminée") all the costs of customs clearance and transit through intervening countries and the costs of transport to the specified border are for seller's account.
- 18.5 For sales "taken to border" ("rendu frontière") all costs are for seller's account up to the border specified in the contract.*.
- 18.6 For sales "delivered to destination" all costs are for seller's account. In the case of transport by lorry it is understood that discharge will be at one place specified in the contract. Otherwise any extra transport costs are to buyer's account.
- 18.7 For all the types of sales described above, in trades outside the Community, all costs for customs and export documentation are to seller's account, customs and import documentation costs for buyer's account.
- 18.8 Even when the transport costs are for the seller's account, the seller has the right to send goods with transport payable on arrival. The buyer should then pay the transport costs and deduct them from the invoice.
- 18.9 If the goods are refused for phytosanitary reasons by the relevant authority of the destination country, all the transport and allied costs are for the seller's account. This clause applies to all types of sale, except when the sale has been agreed with quality inspection at loading and the buyer has carried out the inspection.

Article 19Modification of costs

All modification to fiscal taxes, customs duties, transport rates, other transport costs or other costs which may be imposed by an authority, before or during the execution of a contract, are to the benefit or cost of the party which is responsible under the terms of the contract for such costs, when the changes occur in whatever countries the goods transit through.

The seller's country is considered to be that from which the delivery of potatoes is made.

The buyer's country is considered to be that which is the destination of the potatoes.

Article 20Transfer of risks

- 20.1 Whatever the type of sale agreed, with the exception of "delivered" sales, the risks of deterioration during transport are to buyer's account, except if the seller is at fault either before or during loading.
- 20.2 Unless otherwise agreed the transport risks pass from the seller to the buyer:
 - a) in the case of sales "ex" (on the chosen means of transport) or "franco" (transport paid to place of destination), as soon as control of the vehicle is taken by the haulier when the seller has completed loading, and at the moment when the goods are loaded on the means of transport when loading is carried out by the transporter.
 - b) in the case of "delivered" or "delivered border" sales, at the moment when the buyer is considered to have taken delivery of the goods at the agreed destination.
- 20.3 In the case of maritime or water-borne sales, the risks are to the seller's or the buyer's account, depending on the type of sales contract.
- 20.4 In the case of damages which could be blamed on the transporter (for example the railway) the receiver is obliged to have an assessment of the damage made in the required form and to inform the seller without delay. The buyer should take all the necessary steps even when the transport risks are to the seller's account.
- 20.5 The requirement to undertake an assessment of the damage does not change in any way the form or time limits which the buyer should observe with regard to the seller.

CHAPTER 5

DELIVERY AND PAYMENT

Article 21 Delivery

21.1 Table summarising dispatch instructions and delivery times.

Delivery method	Dispatch instructions	Time limit for delivery after receipt of dispatch instructions from buyer
Delivery "by rail or lorry"	At the same time as the contract is concluded	Without delay, where it is guaranteed that the goods are actually loaded on the means of transport when the contract is concluded
"Immediate" delivery	In 18 working hours	In 3 working days
"Available" for delivery	In 3 working days	In 6 working days
Delivery "within a given period"	At least 1 working day before the beginning of the delivery period	The seller has the right to deliver the totality of the contract on any day from the beginning to the end of the agreed period
Delivery "within a given period at buyer's demand"	The buyer has the right to give dispatch instructions on any day, but at least 8 working days before the end of the agreed period	When no particular time limit is fixed in the contract, the required quantity should be delivered in 6 working days following receipt of the dispatch order.
Delivery "spread out over a given period"	At least 3 working days preceding the day of each delivery	The deliveries should be made during this period, in several more or less equal parts, at more or less equal intervals, in 3 working days from receipt of the dispatch order for each partial delivery
Delivery "on a particular day"	The working day preceding the delivery day	The delivery day

21.2 A delay by the buyer in giving dispatch instructions gives the seller the right to delay delivery by an equivalent period.

21.3 If there is no fixed delivery period, the contracting parties are considered to have specified "delivery available" with the exception of new potatoes where delivery should take place the same day. If there are several contracts for similar goods, and no delivery time is stipulated, the contracts should be delivered in the order in which they were agreed.

21.3 All deliveries in part should be considered as separate contracts.

Article 22 Place and date of delivery

22.1 The place of execution of a delivery is the place of loading of the goods on the agreed means of transport, except in the case of "delivered" sales.

22.2 The date of execution for the seller is that on which the goods are delivered to the transporter, except in the case of "delivered" goods. The information given on the transport documents provide evidence of this unless there is proof to the contrary.

Article 23 Means of payment

23.1 The means of payment should be agreed and stated in the contract.

23.2 The most used methods of payment are shown in Annex no. 3.

23.3 In the absence of a special agreement, the parties are considered to have agreed a payment date 14 days after dispatch of the goods.

23.4 The payment clauses according to the methods anticipated in Annex no.3, do not imply unreserved acceptance of the goods.

23.5 If a difference arises the buyer is obliged to pay, at the due date, any amount that is not contested, without waiting for the result of any hearing.

23.6 In a case where, without justification, a buyer does not pay at the due date laid down in the contract, interest for late payment as well as bank charges, costs of returning drafts, of making protests etc. shall be to his account.

23.7 If, after the conclusion of a contract, information on the financial status of the buyer are so unfavourable that term payment presents an obvious risk and if the real status of the buyer was not known to the seller, the latter has the right to demand bank guarantees or advance payment for the amount in question, without taking account of the payment conditions agreed in the contract. The seller should give the buyer a time limit of three working days to comply, if this does not happen he can renounce the delivery and may also call for damages.

23.8 The intermediaries and commercial auxiliaries (brokers, commercial agents, representatives, etc.) have the right, unless there is a special agreement to their brokerage or their commission as soon a deal is agreed by the parties.

Article 25

Calculation of loss

- 25.1 The party in default is responsible for all the costs and damages caused by such default. The other party must be able to justify them.
- 25.2 In order to quantify his loss with regard to the goods, the seller must:
- a) resell the goods, either through an established broker or directly,
 - or
 - b) claim as damages the difference between his sale price and the market price on the day of cancellation, without re-selling the goods.
 - or
 - c) make a claim for loss of profit.
- 25.3 The buyer may act as follows:
- a) buy goods of the same quality, origin and packaging as that agreed in the contract, either through an established broker or directly.
 - or
 - b) claim the difference between the purchase price and the market price on the day of cancellation, without buying in replacement.
 - or
 - c) make a claim for loss of profit.
- 25.4 In the case of resale, buying-in or establishment of market price; these operations should, wherever possible, be carried out by an established broker.
- 25.5 Both parties to the contract may take part in the resale or buying-in through an established broker or through any officially licensed body without affecting their rights.
- 25.6 The brokerage fees are to the account of the party in default.
- 25.7 Any direct resale or buying-in should be carried out within three working days following the expiry of the time extension and at the market price.
- 25.8 The market price of the cancellation shall be certified by an established broker, or failing this by two recognised professionals in the potato business.
- 25.9 Even if the injured party gave notice, at the cancellation, of his intention to re-sell or to buy-in replacement goods, he retains the right to claim, within a time limit of 14 days, the difference between the contract price and the market price on the day of cancellation, or his loss of profit.
- 25.10 Determination of damages in case of disease:
- The compensation regarding a complaint about the quality of potatoes shall be limited to the value of the merchandise or its replacement value, additional costs included (costs for transport and commission).

- 25.11 In the case of a quarantine disease originating from the merchandise delivered by the seller, the compensation of damages can not be higher than the reimbursement of the price paid or the replacement value of the merchandise delivered, additional costs included (costs for transport and commission).

Article 26 Non-payment

- 26.1 The non-payment of a delivery or failure to open a letter of credit at the date fixed in the contract gives the seller the right to put the buyer in default by written telecommunication, confirmed by recommended letter, to fulfil the contract terms within two working days, and to give notice that he reserves the right, at the end of this time, to suspend further deliveries on the contract or to cancel it with or without damages. Until payments have been confirmed, the seller reserves the right to suspend all deliveries between the parties
- 26.2 If he wants to get payment of damages, the seller should, at the latest within 5 working days after the expiry of the above time limit, confirm by written telecommunication the total sum and the way in which this has been calculated. Unless this is done there will just be a simple cancellation.
- 26.3 a) If the buyer has made a claim against the goods on arrival and remains in default for payment at the agreed time, the seller has the right to require the buyer to deposit the sum due for the goods in a bank designated by the European Delegate or the National Delegate involved, and to give notice that he reserves the right to suspend further deliveries of the balance of the contract or to cancel it with or without damages, if this is not done within 5 working days.
- b) The European Delegate or the National Delegate concerned, is authorised by the parties to handle this deposit according to their joint instructions or according to the arbitration award concerning the disagreement. If neither of the parties calls for arbitration within six months, the sum deposited will be given back to the party who deposited it, after deduction of any expenses incurred.

Article 27 Reasons for exemption - Force majeure

- 27.1 Reasons for exemption are considered to be all circumstances outside the control of the parties which a diligent contractant would not be able to avoid, the consequences of which he could not take precautions against, when such circumstances occur after the contract has been concluded and prevent absolutely its total or partial execution.
- 27.2 Cases of force majeure are considered to be, war, revolution, strikes, interruptions of traffic, general prohibition of importation or exportation, natural catastrophes, loading conditions becoming impossible following snow or persistent frost.
- 27.3 Throughout the duration of a condition of force majeure, making or accepting deliveries is suspended on the condition that it is absolutely impossible to carry out the agreed engagements and that the party who is affected informs the other party as soon as the event occurs. In the event of failure to provide information about the circumstances responsible, the affected party cannot use them as an excuse, unless there are also circumstances that prevent information being given.

- 27.4 Time limits for delivery are increased according to the length of time by which delivery is prevented through force majeure, except for new potatoes for which the parties should make a new agreement.
- 27.5 If the obstacle caused by force majeure, which has been properly established, by one of the parties, lasts for more than a month, either party may cancel the contract without damages, provided they were not in default at the onset of force majeure. This clause does not apply to industrial potatoes.
- 27.6 In the case where rain makes lifting impossible, the seller is not obliged to deliver new potatoes, on the condition that he immediately informs the buyer by written telecommunication.
- 27.7 A breakdown or accident involving a lorry does not constitute a reason for exemption within the meaning of force majeure.

CHAPTER VII

CLAIMS AND EXPERT ASSESSMENTS

Article 28 Claims concerning quality

- 28.1 At reception and before unloading, the buyer, after the normal examination, must inform the seller of any defects, in the time limits shown in article 28.3, by written telecommunication. This should specify:
- the registration number of the vehicle or name of the vessel,
 - a summarised description of the defects of the goods,
 - the date and time of arrival.
- 28.2 The defects that only become apparent during unloading of a vehicle or vessel should be indicated as soon as they are noticed by written telecommunication while the rest of the goods remain on the means of transport.
- 28.3 After the goods have been put in the hands of the buyer, the time limits for the sending of a written telecommunication by him are those detailed below in working hours. Once the written telecommunication has been received, the seller must reply within the same time limit expressed in working hours.

	Transport by road	Other means of transport
New potatoes	3	6
Seed potatoes	6	9
Storage potatoes*	3	6
Industrial and other potatoes	6	9

*including industrial potatoes for processing into human food products.

For deliveries that arrive on a Saturday, with the exception of new potatoes, (-) the time limit for making a claim starts on the following working day. This does not apply to deliveries by lorry requested for Saturday.

For new potatoes being put in the hands of the buyer on a Saturday or the day before a National holiday up to 12 h, the time limit for claims is interrupted at midday until the next working day.

- 28.4 Claims made during discharge are only valid under the following conditions:
- A) for road transport:
- a) if the identification and integrity of the goods can not be contested (by seals, lead seals, tamper-proof labels, etc.), and while the balance of the lot remains on the lorry. If there is no contrary instruction from the seller or no response from him in the time limit provided by article 28.3, the buyer is obliged to discharge the goods.
 - b) If the goods are in bulk or in big bags, they should remain on the lorry until the end of the claims procedure or possible expert assessment.

B) for transport by rail:

the claim should be made at the first destination station or if the goods are being forwarded as an entire lot and without delay, at the final station. The claim is only valid if the goods are still on the rail wagon at the station.

Their unloading, their re-dispatch after breaking up of the lot and/or with a delay where they are taken outside the station means that they have been accepted as far as the sender is concerned.

In this case a claim may be made by the new buyer at the new destination station, but the first seller is completely exempt from any such claim.

28.5.1 All claims made after discharge by the consignee are invalid except:

- a) in the case of transport by sea where discharge is necessary before it is possible to make a claim. It will only be valid if it is made within the time limits allowed above and before the goods have left the port area, provided that the identification of the merchandise can not be contested.
- b) in the case of inherent vice, i.e. when a normal examination of the merchandise by a diligent professional would not have revealed the defect, the date of delivery will be regarded as the starting point of the time limit for lodging a complaint. The complaint may not be sent later than one week after delivery, provided that the identification of the merchandise can not be contested.
- c) for seed potatoes, in the case of a progressive disease as meant in annex 5, provided that:
 - it is made before planting, at the latest within 6 weeks after delivery ;
 - the identification of the merchandise can not be contested ;
 - all elements be submitted that permit to exclude that the disease can be imputed to warehousing conditions for the merchandise during that period.

28.5.2 In the case of a quarantine disease as meant in annex 5, the complaint must be made by the ultimate buyer by registered letter with acknowledgement within 8 days after the disease discovery, while the buyer must take all necessary steps and arrange for sampling by a RUCIP expert or by a sampler recognised by an official organism and all analyses carried out by a recognized laboratory according to a procedure, officially recognized by the country of the receiver or the country of the sender, that allows for the diagnosis of the disease while the lot remains identifiable or traceable and that shows that the disease existed already at the moment of delivery.

28.5.3 For seed potatoes, and additionally to what has been determined previously, the end user shall have to have given to his seller or a trusted third party as from the moment of plantation the cadastral plot plan of the sowing area concerned. Complaints about quarantine diseases will not be possible anymore after delivery, incl. to oneself, after harvest of the tubers that were at the origin of the complaint.

28.5.4 In any case no complaint shall be admissible beyond a period of 9 months after delivery to the ultimate buyer.

28.6 In the case of successive sales the intermediate buyers must transmit without delay by written telecommunication any claims they receive together with any information concerning them. The total time limit to be observed by all the participants in a chain should not exceed the limits fixed in article 28.3.

- 29.5 If the contract calls for an expert assessment on dispatch the seller should ask the relevant National Bureau of the place where the goods are to be found. The assessment on dispatch should cover all the defects that could be found. The costs of this expertise are to the account of the party requesting it.
- 29.6 In the case of a dispute concerning goods which have been the subject of successive sales without re-dispatch, it is the responsibility of the last buyer or any other link in the commercial chain to call for an assessment.
- 29.7 Only the experts named on the lists drawn up by the European Committee and/or the European Delegate and the National Committees and/or their associated organisations may carry out an assessment. The experts required to work on a National basis are nominated by the National Committees and/or the European Delegate on the proposition of the National Committees and/or their associated organisations. They are, of right, National experts.
- 29.8 The parties may be present or be represented at the assessments.
- 29.9 Each of the parties may demand a counter-assessment. This demand should be made to the National Bureau where the procedure began.
- a) within 4 working hours by the party or parties who were present or were represented;
 - b) within 9 working hours of the receipt of the report of the assessment by written telecommunication by the party/parties who were neither present nor represented.
- In the case of simultaneous demands for a counter-assessment only that of the party who did not call for the first assessment will be taken into account.
- 29.10 The assessment and counter-assessment shall be made according to the "Rules for Expert Assessment of Potatoes" annexed to the present Rules and Practices.
- 29.11 In the case of a dispute on arrival of goods that have been subject to an assessment on dispatch, as required by the contract, the second assessment shall be made following the procedure laid down for counter-assessments. Only the defects complained of shall be examined. The buyer shall request immediately, to the relevant National Bureau, by written telecommunication, that an expert be designated and giving the name of the expert who carried out the assessment on dispatch. The results of the second assessment are binding.
- 29.12 The costs of the assessment and, where relevant, those of the counter-assessment shall be to the account of the party at fault.
- 29.13 If, before the assessment, the seller has agreed to give the buyer an allowance equal or greater than that eventually fixed by the expert the buyer shall bear the costs of the assessment.
- 29.14 The tolerances provided in articles 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 can not be deducted from the percentage of defects found by the expert.

Article 30

Allowance or refusal

30.1 The buyer may demand an allowance or refuse the lot depending on the size of the deficiency in weight certified by the assessment.

30.2 The following percentages shall serve as criteria:

- 6% for seed potatoes;
- 8% of which 1% maximum of the goods affected by :

for new potatoes:

1% superficial common scab

1% greening

1% dry or wet rot

1% late blight

for ware potatoes

1% dry or wet rot

1% late blight

- 12% for industrial potatoes (art. 11) or 6% waste.

These percentages do not apply neither to industrial potatoes that come under article 12, nor to potatoes destined for animal consumption.

30.3 If the deficiency by weight does not exceed these percentages, the buyer may only claim an allowance.

This allowance is based on the contract price, increased by the transport costs, customs costs and re-dressing if relevant, which remain to seller's account.

The buyer will take possession of the good when the time limit of 9 working hours laid down in art. 29.9 has expired, of the seller does not reply to the written telecommunication informing him of the results of the expert assessment or does not require a counter assessment. His silence is taken as purely and simply accepting the findings of the expert.

30.4 If the depreciation by weight goes beyond these percentages, the buyer can refuse the goods. Nevertheless a buyer can not refuse a lot or a load when only part of it is of inferior quality, however great the depreciation in value of the disputed part may be, if this depreciation in value, when spread over the entire lot or load does not exceed the percentages in § 2 of this article.

Within 9 working hours following reception of the expert's report by written telecommunication, the seller should confirm by written telecommunication if he accepts the refusal or if he rejects it and requires a counter-assessment.

If the seller does not react to the expert's report or if he rejects it without asking for a counter-assessment, the buyer can, after the expiry of a time limit of 9 working hours following the presumed time of receipt of the expert's report by the seller:

- a) either inform the seller of his refusal and advise him that the goods are at his disposal;
- b) or put the goods into storage in a public warehouse or that of a third party for the account of whoever has right to them;
- c) or, particularly if the conclusion of expert assessment is that the goods should be used immediately (disease developing, frost damage etc.), have them put up for sale by public auction, by any officially certified person, or by an established broker, after having in all cases given the seller prior warning of the intended sale for his account.

- 30.5 If the result of the assessment is in the seller's favour and the buyer refuses to accept its conclusions, the seller can:
- a) either inform the buyer that the goods are at his disposal;
 - b) or put the goods in to storage in a public warehouse or that of a third party for the account of whoever has right to them;
 - c) or have them sold at public auction after having given the buyer prior warning of the sale for his account.
- 30.6 If after the expert assessment the seller gives instructions for the re-dispatch of the refused goods, the buyer must carry these out, with reimbursement of costs if relevant. In any case all the costs borne are for the seller's account.
- 30.7 If the buyer demands replacement of the refused goods or if he wants to obtain damages, he should declare this at the same time as he gives notice of refusal, otherwise he may forfeit his rights.
The damages shall be calculated according to the rules laid down in article 25.3. Their total cannot exceed the contract value of each of the deliveries. The buyer should give notice within 14 days, at the latest, the total of the damages claimed.
If the parties cannot agree, the grant of damages can only be decided by arbitration.

CHAPTER VIII

DISPUTES

Article 31 Compromise clause⁴ and Recourse to legal proceedings

- 31.1 All disputes arising from contracts made between contracting parties under the terms of the present RUCIP Rules and Practices as well as all annexes to these contracts, shall be decided definitively by the conditions laid down by the Rule of Arbitration of the European Committee, hereto annexed.
- 31.2 When a party has recourse to legal proceedings, it may not invoke the particular rules of RUCIP to influence the process of law. However, the other party can call into question the competence of the judiciary and demand to be heard before a RUCIP arbitration court. The tribunal may make judgement deciding that it is not competent and sending the parties back to the RUCIP arbitration procedure.
In this case, the time limits for making the demand for arbitration mentioned in Chapter II of the Rules for arbitration start to run from the time when the official notification of the definitive incompetence judgement is given to the parties.
The foreclosure time limit provided for by RUCIP shall be shortened by the time elapsed between the start of the dispute and the deposition of the matter before the judicial tribunal.
- 31.3 If, in following this process, the most diligent party lodges a demand for arbitration to settle the dispute, then this shall be dealt with following the procedure laid down in Chapter II of the Rules of Arbitration. The provision of a deposit under the terms of article 4.4 of Chapter II of the Rules of Arbitration should be required by the National Delegate or the arbitration body from the party which made the original recourse to legal proceedings, under threat of forfeiting his rights, regardless of which party presented the demand for RUCIP arbitration.
- 31.4 If the demand for arbitration is lodged outside this new time limit, the arbitration commission shall decide if the demand can be accepted. Once this decision has been given, the parties may have recourse, if they wish, to a judicial hearing so as not to leave the dispute in a legal vacuum.
The maximum time limit for demanding a formal declaration of foreclosure shall be one year from the new time limit for foreclosure mentioned above. After this time the rights of all parties become void.
- 31.5 Provided this ruling is not contrary to the legislation of one of the countries of the contracting parties who have contracted under the present Rules and Practices, recourse to ordinary legal proceedings is forbidden to the parties.
- 31.6 Nevertheless, by exemption from this ruling, actions for payments provided through letters of exchange (drafts accepted and contested) and actions for any means of payment that are unpaid can be taken through civil law.

⁴ The French "Clause compromissoire" means that the parties are bound to resolve their disputes within the framework of the contract rules i.e. those of RUCIP 2006 and renounce recourse to civil law.

Article 32Definitive language

In case of dispute of the interpretation of the text only that drawn up in French will be valid.

CHAPTER II Art. 3 to 4	: ACCEPTING THE REQUEST
CHAPTER III Art. 5 to 6	: CARRYING OUT THE ASSESSMENT
CHAPTER IV Art. 7 to 9	: FINDINGS AND RESULT OF THE ASSESSMENT
CHAPTER V Art. 10	: SECOND ASSESSMENT
CHAPTER VI Art. 11	: COSTS OF THE ASSESSMENT
CHAPTER VII Art. 12 to 14	: GENERAL CONDITIONS

CHAPTER 1

REQUEST FOR EXPERT ASSESSMENT

Article 1

The request for an assessment should be sent by written telecommunication to the National Assessment Office of the country in which the disputed goods lie.

If the country where the assessment should take place is not a member of the European Committee, the request for assessment should be sent to the European Delegate who will decide which National office should nominate the expert.

Article 2

The request must include the following information:

- a) the name, address, telephone and fax number of the seller or other party, together with proof of the reference to RUCIP terms made in the contract,
- b) type and quantity of the goods,
- c) number of the lorry or rail wagon, or name of the vessel, the place where it is or, if it is different, the place where the assessment will take place.
- d) the quality agreed according to the contract.
- e) origin
- f) notification of defects complained of,
- g) notification, if relevant, of an assessment on loading/dispatch.

CHAPTER II

ACCEPTING THE REQUEST

Article 3

The assessment office concerned has the right to refuse the request for an assessment if it is informed that the contract is not under RUCIP terms.

Article 4

- 4.1 The assessment office will immediately appoint a qualified expert and send him, by written telecommunication, the necessary details to carry out the assessment.
- 4.2 In agreement with the expert, the assessment office will fix the day and time for the assessment so that it is possible for the parties to be present or represented.
The assessment office will send to the parties, by written telecommunication, the name of the expert, as well as the place, date and time of the assessment.
- 4.3 Either party has the right to object to the expert by written telecommunication, with the motive for the objection, sent without delay to the National Delegate.
- 4.4 If the National Delegate finds the objection is valid, he will immediately nominate another expert.
- 4.5 The conditions governing objections to experts are the same as those which apply to objections to arbitrators (article 3 of the Rules of Arbitration).

CHAPTER III

CARRYING OUT THE ASSESSMENT

Article 5

- 5.1 The expert should take notice from the documents held by the parties, of all the information necessary to allow the assessment to take place and for a report of the assessment to be produced.
- 5.2 The expert must carry out the assessment in total independence without taking heed of the parties involved.
- 5.3 The assessment should only take account of the defects which are in dispute, except for assessments on loading/dispatch which cover any defects apparent.
- 5.4 The consignee must provide the expert with the means (personnel, equipment, lighting, etc.) so that he can carry out his task without difficulty. If necessary the expert can take the necessary measures, at the expense of the party in default.
- 5.5 If the expert finds himself in conditions which make it impossible to carry out a proper assessment of the goods he should notify by telephone the Office that appointed him and ask for new instructions. The Office may decide to abandon the assessment or to put it off. In this case it should advise the National Delegate and inform the parties, giving the motive for the decision.

Article 6

- 6.1 For each disputed lot, the expert will take samples in five different places, which should together make up at least 1% of the lot concerned. The samples drawn should be mixed and a sample of at least one fifth of the weight drawn should be examined in detail by the expert so that all the defects cited may be detected.
The tolerances allowed in articles 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12 of the Rules and Practices, may not be deducted from the percentage of defects certified by the assessment.
- 6.2 The depreciation of value is represented by the percentage by weight of tubers out of conformity which it is necessary to remove so that the goods conform to the contract. If a tuber has several defects, only the largest or most serious defect is taken into account.
- 6.3 The parties are forbidden to intervene in the assessment. The expert should not take into account the opinions or wishes of the parties as to the procedures or the means used for deciding the depreciation in value.

CHAPTER IV

FINDINGS AND RESULT OF THE ASSESSMENT

Article 7

The expert should use the official form of the European Committee for his report, as given in Annex no. 4, in four copies. He will send one to each of the parties and one to the Assessment Office who appointed him.

Article 8

If the goods need to be sorted, the expert should point out the costs involved taking account of local conditions.

Article 9

Unless the two parties were present at the assessment the expert should immediately make known the result by written telecommunication to any absent party showing precisely, for each defect observed, the depreciation and, depending on the case, the total of the accessory costs of sorting, handling, etc.

CHAPTER V

SECOND ASSESSMENT

Article 10

- 10.1 Each of the parties can, within the time limits fixed by article 29.9 of the Rules and Practices make a request for a second assessment to the National Delegate, who will immediately nominate a counter-expert and notify the parties.
- 10.2 If it concerns an inter-European assessment, he should appoint one of the Nationality requested by the party making the appeal.
- 10.3 The Assessment Office will arrange the second assessment and if necessary a meeting of the two experts/ If they are of different opinions, the Assessment Office will nominate a third expert. If one of the parties so wishes, he will choose one of a different Nationality to that of the parties. The third expert will produce a binding report.
- 10.4 The requirements of the present rules apply equally to first second and third assessments.

CHAPTER VI

COSTS OF THE ASSESSMENT

Article 11

The costs of the assessment or of the second assessment should be put up in advance by the requesting party according to the scale fixed by the European Committee and/or the European Delegate.

The costs incurred through the application of article 10.3, should be put up in advance by the party requesting the second assessment.

These advances are to be paid to the expert by crossed cheque in the name of the Assessment Office before the assessment.

CHAPTER VII

GENERAL CONDITIONS

Article 12

An expert assessor is forbidden from acquiring or selling for his own account, or for the account of a third party, any goods on which he has carried out an assessment.

Any failure by an expert to observe these rules will be punished by the European Committee.

Article 13

Any claims relating to assessments or concerning the attitude of the experts should be sent to:

- the National Delegate for cases where the assessment is between firms or persons of the same country.
- The European Delegate where inter-European assessments are concerned.

In all cases the motives for the claims must be stated.

Article 1

RUCIP Arbitration Commission - National arbitration bodies

- 1.1 The arbitration bodies covered by the present Rules are the RUCIP Arbitration Commission of the First and Second Degree, composed and operating according to the present Rules.
- 1.2 If the contractants make a special agreement to use another arbitration body this should act in accordance with the present Rules and observe RUCIP conditions. In the text below such a body is called: "RUCIP Arbitration Commission".

Competence of the arbitration bodies

- 1.3 The arbitration commission competent for the First Degree is that of the defending party's country and for the Second Degree it is that of a third party country, except in the case of a dispute between contractants whose headquarters are in the same country and/or where the parties have agreed otherwise.
- 1.4 In the case where there is no arbitration body in the defending party's country, the National Delegate or the European Delegate will nominate the competent arbitration body.
- 1.5 The RUCIP Arbitration Commissions are the judges of their own competence for the cases that they are handed. They have the widest possible powers to research into the relevant details. They are not obliged to follow the procedures, time limits or practices established for Tribunals or Courts, they can, at the request of the parties make agreed settlements. They will pass award as laid down by RUCIP.

The National Delegates

- 1.6 The RUCIP National Delegate and his deputy are nominated by the National Committee and/or its associated bodies. They should satisfy the conditions required for an Arbitrator in article 3.1 of Chapter I. Their nomination should be ratified by the European Committee and/or the European Delegate.
- 1.7 The National Delegate directs the National Arbitration Secretariat.
- 1.8 If he is not available the Deputy National Delegate will carry out his duties. In such a case his powers are limited to the duties for which he has been appointed.

The Arbitration secretariat - List of qualified arbitrators

- 1.9 Each National Committee and/or its associated bodies makes up a RUCIP National arbitration secretariat. (The list of National committees and/or associated bodies is published by the European Committee)
- 1.10 The National Committee and/or associated bodies should draw up a list of RUCIP Arbitrators. This list should include at least six Arbitrators.

- 1.11 The address of the RUCIP National Arbitration Secretariat and the list of Arbitrators should be sent to the European Committee and/or the European Delegate, who will approve them and draw up the general list of registered Arbitrators and pass it to the National Committees and/or their associated bodies for distribution.
- 1.12 The duty of the Secretariat is to do everything necessary for the good running of arbitrations, to ensure the proper working of the Commissions for which it is responsible as well as their financial administration. It is necessary that its operation throughout the year should be ensured.
- 1.13 The composition of the Secretariat may be modified by the National Committee, and/or its associated bodies of which it is composed, it is obliged to notify the General Secretariat of the European Committee and/or the European Delegate of any such modifications. This also applies to the lists of Arbitrators. Members of Secretariats are bound by professional confidentiality.
- 1.14 The European Committee sets up a RUCIP General Secretariat for Second Degree Arbitration Commissions.

Article 2

Procedural Language

- 2.1 The procedural language is proposed by the appellant. In case of disagreement between the parties, or between the parties and the arbitration body, the President of the body will decide which language to use considering the special circumstances of each case and the known interests of the parties. In such a case the language must be either French, German, English, Spanish or Italian.

Time limits

- 2.2 The time limits given in the present Rules may be prolonged for one day if they run out on a Sunday or on a legal holiday, either in the country where the hearing is taking place or in that of a party concerned. The only legal holidays recognised are those which are official for the whole of the country concerned.

Costs and honoraria

- 2.3 The arbitration costs and honoraria are fixed by the body giving the award according to the scale laid down by the European Committee. The award will also fix the travel and lodging expenses of the parties, these will have been taken into account by the arbitration body. There is no right of appeal over expenses and honoraria.

Correspondence

- 2.4 All correspondence between the Arbitration Secretariat and the parties, concerning the process, must be sent by registered letter, with acknowledgement of receipt, whenever this is possible.

Article 3.

The Arbitrators

- 3.1 The arbitrators who appear on the lists provided in article 1.10 of Chapter I should carry or should have carried out commercial duties in the potato business.
- 3.2 The Arbitrators are not representatives of the parties and should act with total independence. They are bound by professional confidentiality.

Choice of Arbitrators

- 3.3 Once the required deposit funds have been received, the Secretariat will immediately advise the defendant of the arbitration request and the extent of the case claimed against him together with a list of registered Arbitrators so that he may nominate an Arbitrator.
- 3.4 If, in the 14 days after receipt of the list, the defendant has not advised the Secretariat of the name of the Arbitrator he has chosen, the Arbitrator will be nominated by the National Delegate.

Objecting to an Arbitrator

- 3.5 An objection may be made to an Arbitrator:
- a) if he is himself a party or a partner or joint debtor of one of the parties or if one of the parties is involved in a process against him;
 - b) in his wife's business affairs, even if the marriage is over;
 - c) if he is directly or indirectly, related to one of the parties or to an intermediary;
 - d) if he is, related collaterally as far as the third degree, or related by marriage up to the second degree to one of the parties, even if the marriage creating this relationship no longer exists;
 - e) in the dealings in which he has been given the authority to start a process or in which he has been a consultant;
 - f) in matters in which he is, or has been, a legal representative by right of one of the parties;
 - g) in matters in which he has been a witness or has given an expert opinion;
 - h) in matters in which he has acted as broker, public selling agent, or in which he has carried out expert assessments;
 - i) in matters in which he has drawn up price valuation.
- 3.6 The party wishing to challenge an Arbitrator should do so in writing, within a time limit of 14 days after being informed of the name of the Arbitrator, giving the reasons for his challenge.
- 3.7 If a party proves that it was unaware of having a reason for challenging an Arbitrator, it can make a valid challenge within a time limit of 14 days, after having received the information providing the reason for the challenge. No challenge may be made once the Arbitration body has met, provided this condition is not contrary to the legislation of the country where the hearing is taking place.
- 3.8 The validity of the challenge will be decided by the National Delegate, who will have the challenged Arbitrator replaced by the party who chose him, as provided in article 3.3, 3.4 and 3.5 of Chapter I, unless the Arbitrator concerned has been appointed by him. In this case the President of the European Committee will decide on the validity of the challenge and proceed, if need be, with the replacement of the challenged Arbitrator.

Refusal or non-availability of an Arbitrator

- 3.9 An Arbitrator who knows that reason exists for challenging him under article 3.5 of Chapter I should refuse the nomination and immediately advise the Delegate concerned. He should do the same in the case of non-availability. The Delegate will ask the interested party to nominate a new Arbitrator within 14 days from the date of receipt of the request, failing which the Delegate will make the nomination.

- 5.6 If one of the parties is not present or represented, the Arbitration Commission may nevertheless proceed with the investigation of the case and pass award.
- 5.7 If the parties default the Arbitration Commission may put off the hearing or give its verdict and award based on the memoranda of the parties and other elements which are available to it.

CHAPTER III RUCIP Arbitration Commission - Second Degree Arbitration

Article 6.

Competent Bodies and time limits for Second Degree Arbitration

- 6.1 The request for a hearing at the Second Degree should be sent by recommended letter with acknowledgement of receipt or by written telecommunication to the European Delegate so that it can be brought before a Second Degree Arbitration Commission within a time limit of 30 days from the receipt of the recommended letter with acknowledgement of receipt, of the award at the First Degree, or suffer foreclosure.
- 6.2 The request should give a summary of the grounds and include a description of the award against which the Second Degree procedure is applied for (the place and date where it was given and the date of receipt of notification).
The request should also give the desired Nationality of one of the Arbitrators, if the parties are of different Nationalities.
- 6.3 The European delegate will immediately advise the other party and the Secretariat of the Commission of First Degree Arbitration of the request for Second Degree.
- 6.4 The defending party can, within a time limit of 20 days after receipt of this notice, repeat a counter claim if he has already, during the First Degree, made a claim or a counter claim.
- 6.5 An increase in a claim or a counter claim is not permitted.

Article 7

Provision of deposit

- 7.1 The European Delegate will fix the sum which the appellant must put up as deposit to ensure the payment of the expenses and honoraria of the arbitration body. If he considers it necessary he may require a further payment.
- 7.2 If the deposit is not made in the time limit fixed by the Delegate, the request for arbitration is considered to be withdrawn and the European Delegate will immediately inform the parties and the Secretariat of the First Degree Arbitration Commission.

Notification to the Defending Party

- 7.3 As soon as the deposit is received, the European Delegate will inform the defending party of the grounds for the appeal made against the First Degree award and ask him to select the Nationality of one of the Arbitrators if the parties are of different Nationalities.

Sending Files to the European Delegate

- 7.4 The National Delegate for the First Degree hearing must send the complete files of the arbitration which is the object of a Second Degree hearing to the European Delegate at his first request.

Constitution of the Commission - Nomination of President

- 7.5 The number of Arbitrators making up a RUCIP Second Degree Arbitration Commission can not be less than three and may be five if one of the parties request it within a time limit of 14 days from receipt of the files, and if the matter concerns a dispute with a value in excess of €50, 000. The party so requesting will be responsible for any supplementary deposit required.
- 7.6 The President and the Arbitrators of the Second Degree Commission are nominated by the President of the European Committee from the list of registered Arbitrators. Any Arbitrator who served on the First Degree Commission may not be chosen.
- 7.7 Each party has the right to select the Nationality of one of the Arbitrators. The President of the Commission should be of a different Nationality from the parties, unless the parties agree otherwise. However if the parties both have their headquarters in the same country, the whole of the tribunal may be made up of that Nationality.
- 7.8 The Arbitrators will be informed of their nomination by the European Delegate.

Place for the Arbitration Hearing

- 7.9 The place for the arbitration will be fixed by the European Delegate in a different country to that of the parties, unless these agree otherwise within 14 days from the date of the notification of the place. If the parties so request, the European Delegate may choose the country of one of them. If the two parties are domiciled in the same country, the arbitration may take place in that country, unless one party objects.
- 7.10 The European Delegate will advise the Secretariat of the country selected which is then responsible for the logistics of the hearing and will put its resources at the disposal of the European Delegate in order to carry out the procedure.

Sending the Files to the National Secretariat

- 7.11 The composition of the Commission and the place for the arbitration having been arranged as above, the European Delegate will pass on the files to the National Secretariat of the country concerned.

Carrying out the Process

- 7.12 The process proceeds up to and including award according to articles 4 and 5 of Chapter II, which are applicable as laid down.

- 7.13 The National Delegate of the country in which the Second Degree Arbitration takes place will send a copy of the award to the Secretariat of the First Instance. The latter will send a copy to the First Degree Arbitrators.
- 7.14 The award will be given and notified within a period of 6 months from the date of receipt of the deposit of funds by the Secretariat. However this period may be extended by the European Delegate at the request of the President of the Second Degree Commission.

CHAPTER VI The Award

Article 8. The Final Award

If there is no request for a Second Degree hearing following the conditions of Chapter III, the award of the First Degree Arbitration Commission becomes final.

Article 9. Serving of the Award

The serving and notification of the award to the legal bodies or relevant authorities, provided this is allowed for in the legislation of the country in which the arbitration took place, shall be carried out according to the time limits and in the manner provided for by that legislation. Where the legislation so allows, the notification and serving of the award should be carried out by the Secretariat.

CHAPTER V General Conditions

Article 10. Guarantee Claims

A party claiming to have a case over a guarantee given by a third party may take an action against them. The guarantor may, in turn, take an action against another guarantor and so on. If the guarantor(s) agree to take part in the dispute, the Arbitration Commission may, with their agreement, give judgement jointly on the original request and the guarantee case in the same Award.

Article 11. Arbitration with Nationals who do not belong to the European Committee

If one of the parties who has made a contract citing RUCIP has its headquarters in a country where there is no National Committee, the arbitration request must be sent to the National Delegate of the party whose country does have a National Committee.

If both parties have their headquarters in countries without National Committees, the request for arbitration should be sent to the European Delegate who will nominate the National Delegate who will have competence for this arbitration.

Article 12. Compromise - Refusal of Arbitration

If the arbitration, at First or Second Degree should take place in a country where the legislation requires that a compromise solution be found, the arbitration Secretariat will require both parties to sign an undertaking to accept such a solution as soon as the arbitration request is received.

If the defending party refuses to sign it and if the parties accept/refer to the present Rules and Practices and to the Arbitration Rules, article 13 of Chapter V is applicable. The defending party shall be deemed to have refused, if he does not sign in the time limit fixed by the President of National arbitration body, the National Delegate or the European Delegate.

Article 13 Refusal to comply with an arbitration award

If the losing party in an arbitration refuses to comply with the demands of the award, the other party has the right to ask the European Committee to publish the name of that party, giving the main elements of the award, in the journals, bulletins or other means of circulation of the bodies responsible for nominating National Committees, and also to other bodies such as those who provide credit insurance. The European Committee will advise the party at fault of such a request by registered letter and give him a time limit of 20 days to comply with the award. When this has elapsed the European Committee may proceed with the publication. The party which, despite the extra time given has not complied with the award, is totally forbidden from having any recourse against or about this publication.

Article 14 Exemption from responsibility

Arbitrators, legal advisers, members of the organisation and of the Secretariats, either Regional, National or European, are exempt from any responsibility because of their actions during the procedure; insofar as the law allows such an exemption.
