Units of the Census of Population, Households and Dwellings 2001

1. persons

- citizens of the Republic of Croatia, foreign citizens and persons without citizenship whose place of usual residence is in the Republic of Croatia, irrespective of whether they are present in the Republic of Croatia on the "Census day" (31st March 2001 at 24.00 hours) or abroad, as well as persons who are temporarily present in the Republic of Croatia on the "Census day";

2. households

- households (of persons stated under the item 1.), defined as family or other community living together and who spend their income on basic existential needs (housing, food etc.), as well as single households, i.e. persons who live alone in their place of usual residence and who have no other place of usual residence in the Republic of Croatia or abroad;

3. dwellings and other housing units designed for habitation

- a dwelling is a construction designed for habitation, consisting of one or more rooms and its accessories (kitchen, pantry, lobby, bathroom, toilet etc.) or without them, which has a separate access to the street. The Census shall comprise other premises or housing units that are not included in the above mentioned definition, but that are, at the time of the Census, used for habitation.
