Documentation:

People-first Project Facilitation Hub (ECE/CECI/WP/PPP/2019/INF.7).

5. Mr. Walter Stevens, Ambassador and Head of Delegation of the European Union to the UN and other international organisations in Geneva, gave a keynote address on the need for complementarity between the work of the UNECE Working Party on Public-Private Partnerships, stressing the importance of the People-first approach to PPPs, with the existing cooperation programmes, initiatives and tools. As such, Ambassador Stevens explained a number of existing programmes in the European Union, such as the Investment Plan for Europe, which mobilised (through to EU guarantees and other tools) over € 335 billion over a three years fiscal period (2015-2017) and was then extended until 2020 with the aim to mobilise up to € 650 billion. The European PPP Expertise Centre (EPEC) established with European Investment Bank (EIB) has played an important role in the Plan’s implementation, while offering support to the European public sector in delivering better PPPs. EPEC is open to cooperation with non-EU countries and therefore, Ambassador Stevens encouraged participants to benefit from their services. For the next budgetary period (2021-2027) the European Union is currently working on the programme’s continuation under the “InvestEU Programme” umbrella, which will consist of the following three pillars:

(a) The InvestEU Fund: Mobilising public and private investment using an EU budget guarantee;

\(^1\) The officers elected to the Bureau at the second session of the Working Party in 2018 will remain in office throughout 2020.

\(^2\) The policy discussion consisting of three sessions with a number of expert panel discussions focused on a People-first Project Facilitation proposal. The views expressed by experts under this agenda item do not necessarily reflect the positions of the Member States.
(b) The InvestEU Advisory Hub: Providing technical advice on investment projects needing financing; and

(c) The InvestEU Portal: An easily accessible database that matches projects with potential investors worldwide.

Finally, Ambassador Stevens emphasised a number of guiding principles for the EU when engaging on PPPs with countries and organisations:

(a) A level playing field for businesses;

(b) Equal treatment in terms of market access; and

(c) Transparency in public procurement.

A. Identifying People-first pilot projects for low and middle-income countries

6. The participants appreciated the quality of the presentations of case studies made by the panellists from PPP units and infrastructure agencies from six countries, which considered the five People-first PPP outcomes.

7. Referring to the proposal to create a People-first project facilitation hub to help low and middle-income countries in document ECE/CECI/WP/PPP/2019/INF.7 (the proposal), panellists suggested that it should focus on high-quality People-first initiatives in low and middle-income countries, directly contributing to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) with transformative impact on the three pillars of sustainable development and a good balance between social and economic infrastructure.

8. The second panel welcomed the case studies as potential material to develop the Project Impact Assessment Tool currently being finalised by the UNECE.

9. The third panel of this session discussed the policies and enabling environment for People-first PPPs, more specifically on the priority actions that countries should do in developing such environment. The panellists acknowledged that the proposal could play a useful role in developing enabling environments by making the UNECE People-first PPP standards as a benchmark for the beneficiary countries, including the UNECE Standard and Declaration on a Zero Tolerance Approach to Corruption in PPP Procurement and the draft People-first PPP Model law.

B. How can the proposal help to develop these People-first PPP projects?

10. The participants were informed of the experiences and suggestions shared by the panellists on the possible role of the proposal in promoting People-first PPP projects and the SDGs within and outside the UNECE subsidiary bodies, more specifically on:

(a) How can the proposal screen countries that are not able to meet People-first PPP standards and best practices and benefit from its services?

(b) How can the proposal develop capacities by working with governments to deliver projects? and

(c) How does the proposal lower the risks in order to implement and make affordable People-first PPPs?

11. Delegates were informed of the proposal to promote the development of pipelines of People-first PPPs in low and middle-income countries, where high-quality infrastructure projects are needed the most. They also took note that such a proposal could contribute to the implementation of UNECE People-first PPP best practices and standards, including the Standard and Declaration on a Zero Tolerance Approach to Corruption in PPP Procurement. Some delegations however recommended that such a proposal should be supported by many States, not just a few. In addition, they asked the secretariat to explore other similar ventures to ensure that such a proposal would not be duplicating existing initiatives, especially those at the Multilateral Development Banks (MDBs).

12. The proposal would develop capacities by working with governments to deliver People-first PPPs and operate as an experience sharing platform where countries will share on a peer to peer basis case studies, capacity building and lessons learned through regular gatherings under the aegis of the Working Party. It was suggested that the proposal should engage in cooperation with the multilateral platform SOURCE led jointly by the MDBs for infrastructure project preparation. The proposal will include in its scope of its implementation principle 10 of the UNECE Guiding Principles on People-first PPPs and would explore mobilizing the joint IMF-World Bank PFRAM3 dedicated tool. It was also suggested that the proposal would supplement the Working Party providing a role for its different activities and could meet under the auspices of the Working Party.

13. Delegates also recognised the important role played by the MDBs in supporting low and middle-income countries in the due diligence and in the execution of People-first PPP projects and their financing.

C. Key issues in the implementation of the proposal: operations, stakeholder engagement, financing, scaling up and the role of the UN

14. Panellists discussed the key issues surrounding the operations of the proposal such as its structure, funding (through extrabudgetary resources) and the role of the UNECE, more specifically:

(a) Should it be a Fund located in an MDB or should it be just a Facilitating programme?
(b) How can the various entities and stakeholders work together?
(c) Where would the funding come from? and
(d) What should be the role of the UNECE in its operations?

15. Panellists argued that in this cooperation between the UNECE and MDBs, each entity would focus on its own area where it has full competence.

16. Delegates took note of the increased cooperation in the area of project facilitations. They noted that the MDBs that were present in the policy discussion were fully supportive of the proposal which could deepen the cooperation between the UNECE and the MDBs in pursuit of the SDGs. Representatives from the private sector underlined their considerable support for such an initiative. Delegations also took note that some aspects of the proposal (such as the Fund) are outside the scope of the Working Party on PPPs.

3 The "PPP Fiscal Risk Assessment Model" (PFRAM) is the multilateral tool developed by the IMF in cooperation with the World Bank for fiscal transparency of PPP projects where private financing translates usually into a public debt through government commitments in the PPP contract. Such public debt is generally hidden as it is off-budget and off-balance sheet and thus is often not accounted for in the official national debt data. PFRAM is tailored to help governments monitor their sovereign debt resulting from PPP and covers both off-balance sheet debt resulting from private financing and contingent liabilities resulting from sovereign guarantees and from other government commitments through contract clauses. https://www.imf.org/external/np/fad/publicinvestment/pdf/PFRAM2.pdf. The delegation of France argued that in relation to UNECE priorities, PFRAM could be leveraged in view to implement the UNECE Guiding Principles on People-first PPP Principle 10 “Avoid debt traps by ensuring the fiscal sustainability of People-first projects and the transparency of fiscal policies”.

17. While a number of delegations expressed their support to the proposal, a number of others expressed their concerns raising a number of issues especially on its role, governance, value added, geographical scope, conflict of interest, the division of responsibilities to avoid duplication and how the proposal would fit within the mandate of the Working Party. The same delegations requested further details on these modalities.

18. In summing up, it was proposed that subject to agreement by the Member States:

   (a) The proposal could focus in the upstream work in the sensitizing of governments and the development of their capability to deliver effective projects - a point made by the MDBs suggesting that this will be the added value of the proposal;

   (b) The secretariat would present in line with the mandate, a detailed account on the governance, value added, the roles and responsibilities between the MDBs and the UNECE to avoid duplication, and the role of the private sector;

   (c) The proposal would focus on facilitating projects in low and-middle income countries in the UNECE region; and

   (d) The secretariat would consult with the other Regional Commissions on the proposal.

19. The delegate of the EU, on behalf of the EU and its Member States thanked the secretariat, the Bureau and the experts for their efforts to promote the UNECE People-first approach and the standard on a Zero Tolerance approach to Corruption in PPP Procurement. The delegate raised a number of concerns to be taken into account going forward:

   (a) Following the regional review of the UN Development System reform, the UNECE membership agreed that the Commission and its subsidiary bodies should focus first on the ECE region. UNECE products are useful in other regions, and the EU agrees that the best practices and standards should also be shared with the other Regional Commissions, and the EU is happy to learn that such cooperation among the secretariats exists;

   (b) The delegate drew the Working Party’s attention to the ongoing discussions within the UNECE concerning the overstretched resources within the secretariat, and the need to streamline current processes, avoid duplication of efforts and ideally streamline the number of subsidiary bodies. The delegate argued that the resources of the UNECE secretariat are overstretched due to the expanding mandate of the Commission, as well as an increasing number of non-ECE countries joining the UNECE Conventions, standards and other products;

   (c) The delegate argued that the "global role" of the UNECE has also become an issue for the Commission's progress and the EU and its Member States struggle to have UNECE decisions endorsed in the ECOSOC in New York given that a number of non-ECE members are questioning the exact global role of the UNECE;

   (d) The EU’s understanding is that this Working Party has a mandate to develop standards, recommendations, best practices, and to disseminate them including via capacity building, and the EU requires more time to better understand the idea to develop a project facilitation hub in cooperation with the MDBs. The delegate added that those member States in need of support in the implementation of the People-first approach can request these services to the Working Party, which will be provided subject to extrabudgetary resources and funding as foreseen by its Terms of Reference; and

   (e) Going forward, the EU and its Member States are not yet convinced of the idea of creating a facilitation hub or programme, or a feasibility study on this proposal, and asked the secretariat to map the existing project facilitation initiatives and tools, for possible future engagement and for the promotion of the People-first approach.
V. Review of the work since the second session of the Working Party on PPPs on 20-21 November 2018 (Agenda item 4)

A. Policy documents: International PPP Standards, Guiding Principles, Declarations, and Recommendations

Documentation:
UNECE/EBRD draft People-first PPP model law and commentary (ECE/CECI/WP/PPP/2019/INF.3); and Proposed People-first Project Facilitation Hub (ECE/CECI/WP/PPP/2019/INF.7).

PPP Standards and guidelines under preparation

20. The secretariat provided a progress report on the draft standards and guidelines at various levels of development, namely:
   (a) Water Supply and Sanitation;
   (b) Urban Rail Transit; and
   (c) Guidelines on Waste-to-Energy projects.

21. The Working Party was also informed of the work on the People-first PPP Model law and commentary developed by a Project Team, which is currently in public review. The Project Team leader assured the delegates that the draft model law has been aligned with the UNCITRAL model legislative provisions on PPPs and the legislative guide adopted by UNCITRAL in July 2019. While the bankability of projects remains a key guiding principle, the novelty in the draft model law is that for the first time the People-first principles have been translated into legal text with many of the features designed to give greater protection to the public interest or ‘value for people’. This, it was argued, is the first attempt by the UN to include such a comprehensive SDG-compliant set of legal principles into a model PPP law.

22. A number of participants commented on the draft model law raising a number of pertinent issues, such as the need of treating all comments fairly and in a transparent manner, ensuring that the draft is balanced and not favouring the lenders at the expense of the public interest, linked to this there is a need to ensure that the People-first PPP principles are properly reflected, how should the contributing partners be acknowledged in the document, and ensure consultation on the draft document, including other Regional Commissions and UN agencies.

Conclusion 2019 – 4.1

The Working Party took note of the status of the standards and guides at various stages of development in the following areas:
   (a) Water and sanitation;
   (b) Urban Rail Transit; and
   (c) Waste-to-Energy.

It urged the project teams to continue working on these standards and guides and to finalise them in due course and to consider different ways for implementing these useful instruments.

4 The Working Party agreed with the Chairperson’s proposal to discuss the reference to the contributing partners in the document at a Bureau meeting.
Conclusion 2019 – 4.2

The Working Party took note of the draft People-first PPP model law and commentary (ECE/CECI/WP/PPP/2019/INF.3) and the comments by participants. It also requested the Bureau to submit the draft law and the commentary to the Committee on Innovation, Competitiveness and Public-Private Partnerships for information and guidance at its fourteenth session in March 2020.

The People-first Project Facilitation proposal and the Project Impact Assessment Tool

Conclusion 2019 – 4.3

23. The Chairperson requested the secretariat to give a progress report on the work of the Project Impact Assessment Tool. The secretariat informed the Working Party that following the decision to set up a Project Team, the secretariat issued a call for participation and received over 100 requests from PPP experts to be involved in this work. Based on their interest, the experts were divided into five sub-groups each responsible for one of the five People-first PPP outcomes. The secretariat is preparing a number of benchmarks and questions for each of the five outcomes to be used by the sub-groups as a basis for their work, which is expected to be concluded in the coming months. Simultaneously, the secretariat is collecting case studies to be used as empirical evidence in the development of the Tool.

24. The secretariat also referred to the desire by Member States for the UNECE to establish formal cooperation with the Sustainable Infrastructure Foundation (SIF), led and funded by the Multilateral Development Banks. It informed that a partnership agreement has been agreed and letters were exchanged in November 2019 with a number of tasks and outcomes. This agreement will allow the UNECE to use SOURCE as the platform for the Project Impact Assessment Tool and as a means to implement UNECE PPP normative documents such as the standard on a Zero Tolerance approach to Corruption in PPP Procurement.

25. One delegation suggested the inclusion of questions in the Tool to assess whether projects are viable as People-first PPPs. It added that SOURCE was a good capacity building platform and invited other countries to use its services.

Conclusion 2019 – 4.4

The Working Party took note of the groundwork carried out on the development of the Project Impact Assessment Tool to identify People-first projects that support the achievement of the SDGs. It requested the Bureau and the secretariat to continue giving priority to this tool in consultation and in collaboration with other stakeholders.

International PPP Specialist Centres affiliated to the UNECE

26. The Chairperson recalled that there are eight PPP Centres affiliated to the UNECE and that there is a growing interest by others to join. He reminded prospective candidates that

5 The project proposal with the expected deliverables is available at: https://wiki.unece.org/display/pppp/Impact+Assessment+Tool
6 As part of this cooperation, SIF will conduct an initial mapping of SOURCE questions vis-à-vis the five People-first outcomes; will integrate the methodology and its scoring mechanism into the SOURCE platform; and will support the promotion of the methodology as part of SOURCE’s outreach activities through webinars, training and participation in international events.
new Centres should not stretch the UNECE resources in any form and that the following three guiding principles need to be taken into account when seeking affiliation:

(a) Government support;
(b) Financial contribution towards UNECE PPP work; and
(c) Become operational within six months from establishment.

27. The Chairperson recalled that at the last session, the secretariat informed the Working Party of a meeting of the Centres in Beijing, China, in December 2018 which kick-started a fruitful process of cooperation and collaboration among the Centres with a focus on key results and impact. He added that among the key outcomes of that meeting was a decision to establish an informal rotating chairmanship system, with Mr. Marc Frilet (Centre in France) being elected as the first chairperson and Mr. David Dodd (Centre in the United States) taking over this role in the summer of 2019. Before giving the floor to Ms. Sonia Mezzour (Morocco) to make a presentation on behalf of the Bureau on the results and impact of the Centres, the Chairperson informed the Working Party that at its last session in March 2019, the Committee on Innovation, Competitiveness and PPPs requested the secretariat and the Bureau to prepare a code of conduct for the Centres and to submit it to the Working Party for its endorsement (ECE/CECI/WP/PPP/2019/4).

28. Ms. Mezzour informed the Working Party that two meetings of the Centres were held since the last session:

(a) 3-4 December 2018, in Beijing, China; and
(b) 2 April 2019, in Paris, France.

29. Among the commitments taken by the Centres individually and collectively are to:

(a) Promote the Guiding Principles on People-first PPPs;
(b) Promote the compliance of PPPs with the People-first outcomes;
(c) Support the work of the UNECE Project Team developing the Project Impact Assessment Tool;
(d) Collect People-first PPP case studies; and
(e) Undertake training and capacity building activities.

30. On the specific results and impact, she reported that these varied from: holding events to promote the People-first PPP approach; organising study tours and trainings for government officials from other Member States; translating the UNECE PPP normative documents into Chinese and Spanish thus bringing the UNECE PPP work to 1.7 billion people; collecting People-first case studies; and preparing studies and carrying out research analysis on People-first PPPs in various sectors.

31. Ms. Mezzour concluded her presentation by informing the delegates that the next coordination meeting of the Centres will be held in New Orleans, hosted by the Centre on PPPs in Resilient Infrastructure under the chairmanship of Mr. David Dodd on 2-6 March 2020.

32. The Chairperson thanked Ms. Mezzour for her comprehensive presentation on behalf of the Bureau and congratulated the Centres for their achievements in the past twelve months and their planned activities in 2020. He then asked the informal rotating chairpersons to make very brief remarks.

*Funding by the Centres should be used for mandated UNECE activities
33. Mr. Marc Frilet and Mr. David Dodd, the first and the current informal rotating chairpersons of the Centres respectively, highlighted some of the key activities, including the importance of holding regular coordination meetings of the representatives of the Centres such as those held in Beijing in December 2018 and in Paris in April 2019, with the next meeting to be held in New Orleans in March 2020.

Conclusion 2019 – 4.5

The Working Party welcomed the presentation by the Bureau on the results and impact of the International PPP Specialist Centres affiliated to the UNECE (ECE/CECI/WP/PPP/2019/INF.4). It also took note of the statement of intent agreed by the Centres at their meeting in Beijing, China in December 2018.

B. Implementation: Capacity building activities and policy advisory services

Implementation of People-first PPP policy documents

34. The Chairperson expressed the Bureau’s concerns that the People-first PPP normative documents prepared by the UNECE were not being sufficiently used by Member States. He proposed that the Working Party takes a more active role in their implementation and redouble its efforts to mobilize resources. The Chairperson added that in order to address this, a document with three practical recommendations was submitted by the Bureau to the Working Party for its consideration and endorsement (ECE/CECI/PPP/WP/2019/3). These are:

(a) Develop implementation strategies of the UNECE People-first PPP standards, guiding principles, best practices, declarations and recommendations;

(b) Build new partnerships to scale up the implementation and impact of UNECE People-first PPP standards, guiding principles, best practices, declarations and recommendations; and

(c) Develop indicators to measure the implementation and impact of UNECE People-first PPP standards, guiding principles, best practices, declarations and recommendations.

35. The Chairperson recalled that an earlier version of this document was sent to the Committee on Innovation, Competitiveness and PPPs at its last session in March 2019, and that a session on this topic was organised by the secretariat at the fourth PPP Forum in May 2019. He concluded that this document synthesised the consensus by experts in these discussions.

Conclusion 2019 – 4.6

Recognising the need to scale up the implementation and impact of the UNECE PPP policy documents, the Working Party endorsed three recommendations aimed at member States and contained in the document “Measuring and scaling up the Implementation and Impact of ECE standards, guiding principles, best practices, declarations and recommendations” (ECE/CECI/WP/PPP/2019/3).

The Working Party requested the Bureau to monitor their implementation in countries, working together with the Working Party members and the secretariat.
Capacity building activities and policy advisory services

36. The Chairperson referred to the key highlights and interventions at the fourth International PPP Forum held in Geneva on 7-9 May 2019 (ECE/CECI/WP/PPP/2019/INF.8) in cooperation with the Economic Commission for Africa, and asked the secretariat to report on the main outcomes of the Forum, and other capacity building activities and policy advisory activities which took place since November 2018.

Increasing the collaboration between the public and private sectors; and 3. Identifying ways in which stakeholder engagement can be increased in People-first PPPs. The discussions that ensued focused on practical solutions to address these challenges. The highlight of the Forum was the participation of four of the five Executive Secretaries of Regional Commissions – UNECE, ECA, ESCAP and ESCWA – who made a strong commitment to enhance People-first PPP cooperation across all regions. A proposal was made to hold the fifth edition of the Forum in Africa co-organised by the UNECE and ECA;

China: Roundtable “Promoting People-first PPPs for the SDGs and the BRI: Introduction to the establishment of a People-first Project Facilitation Hub”, jointly organised by the UNECE with the China Chamber of International Commerce (Beijing, 15 November 2019); and Jordan: workshop on PPPs in the Ports sector jointly organised by the UNECE with ESCWA and the Islamic Development Bank for government officials from Greece, Iraq, Jordan, Kuwait, Lebanon and Syria (23-24 November 2019).

38. The Chairperson congratulated the secretariat for organising a very successful fourth edition of the International PPP Forum from 7 to 9 May 2019. He also expressed his gratitude to the PPP experts participating in policy advisory services and the capacity building activities, and especially those who did so on a pro bono basis, and to the secretariat for organizing and servicing these activities.

39. The delegation of Belarus appreciated the assistance given by the UNECE to Belarus in the past year to develop a municipal PPP projects’ development manual, which will be used as a blueprint for other regions in Belarus.

40. The delegation of Tajikistan appreciated the field visit in Dushanbe in August 2019 and the work on a list of policy recommendations to improve the PPP development in Tajikistan.

41. The delegation of Kyrgyzstan appreciated the assistance given by the UNECE, in particular in formulating guidelines and templates on project identification and initiation, which were presented to the Government at a workshop and roundtable in Bishkek on 30-31 October 2019.

42. The Chairperson reminded the Working Party that its policy advisory services and capacity building programme depended on extra budgetary funding. He expressed his appreciation to the donors who had provided in-kind and financial contributions in support of the UNECE’s People-first PPP work, including the development of People-first PPP standards and the organisation of demand-driven policy advisory services and capacity building activities of the UNECE International PPP Centre of Excellence, namely:

- The Government of the Russian Federation;
- Tsinghua University, Beijing, China;
- City University of Hong Kong; and
- China International Engineering Consulting Corporation

43. The Chairperson urged Member States and other stakeholders to follow in the footsteps of existing donors and support the work of the UNECE International PPP Centre of Excellence with extra-budgetary resources for consideration and approval by the Executive Committee, and in-kind contribution.
Conclusion 2019 – 4.7

The Working Party expressed its gratitude to the secretariat for organising a very successful fourth edition of the UNECE International PPP Forum from 7 to 9 May 2019 in cooperation with the Economic Commission for Africa. VI. Implementation plan for 2019-2020 (Agenda item 5)

Documentation:

Report of the Committee on Innovation, Competitiveness and Public-Private Partnerships on its thirteenth session (ECE/CECI/2019/2, Annex II – Intersessional implementation plan for 2019-2020);

Report of the Working Party on Public-Private Partnerships on its second session (ECE/CECI/WP/PPP/2018/2); and

44. The chairperson referred to Annex II of the report of the Committee on Innovation, Competitiveness and Public-Private Partnerships on its thirteenth session in March 2019 (ECE/CECI/2019/2), which contained the list of mandated PPP activities. He added that a number of these activities have already been completed as per the secretariat’s detailed report under agenda item 4.
Referring to the annual International PPP Forum, the Chairperson informed the Working Party that the secretariat received an offer from the Economic Commission for Africa to host the Forum in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

The secretariat referred to the list of mandated PPP activities and highlighted in particular (in date order):
