

Sray AGARWAL

Data Scientist, Publicis Sapient

Sray Agarwal is currently working for Publicis Sapient as a Data Scientist and is based out of London. His expertise lies in Predictive Modelling, Forecasting and advanced Machine Learning. He possesses a deep understanding of algorithms and advanced statistics. He has a background in management, economics and has done a master equivalent program in Data Science and Analytics. His clients range from biggest global financial services to supply chain giants. He has worked for supply chain optimization, enhancing mortgage experiences, risk scoring, international trade fraud analytics to name a few. His current areas of interest are Fair and Explainable ML. He is also awarded Microsoft MVP in AI.