Tentative timing: Thursday, 18 September, 10.30–10.45 a.m.

9. Representatives of the Coordination Centre for Effects (CCE) and the International Cooperative Programme on Modelling and Mapping of Critical Loads and Levels and Air Pollution Effects, Risks and Trends (ICP Modelling and Mapping) will present a proposal for a 2014–2015 call for data that will address the need to adapt the critical loads database to the new longitude-latitude —  $0.50^\circ \times 0.25^\circ$  — EMEP deposition grid. The call will offer the possibility to National Focal Centres to update their national data with a novel approach to calculate sulphur and nitrogen critical load functions taking into account their impact on biodiversity, as proposed by CCE. The call will also enable the National Focal Centres to submit a list of typical and relevant species for the ecosystems and habitat classes considered.

10. Following the recommendation of CCE and ICP Modelling and Mapping, the Working Group is expected to welcome the proposed call for data to National Focal Points. The details of the call are summarized in informal document No. 1.

The Working Group will discuss the 2014 joint summary progress report, which will highlight the main outcomes of the work under WGE, and two thematic reports — on the air pollution impacts on vegetation in countries of Eastern and South-Eastern Europe, the Caucasus, Central and South-East Asia and on the health impacts and policy options of residential heating with wood and coal. It will also consider technical documents from the International Cooperative Programmes (ICPs), which cover effects-oriented activities based on the 2014–2015 workplan, as well as other documents and publications made available by the ICPs. Lead countries will draw attention to recent activities, in particular publications and task force meetings.

12. The Working Group is expected to take note of the progress made. It may wish to provide guidance for future activities. The review of recent results is expected to cover the following pollution-specific topics: (a) cross-cutting items; (b) acidification and nutrient nitrogen; (c) ozone; and (d) particulate matter, heavy metals and persistent organic pollutants. Under each topic, representatives of ICPs will make contributions regarding implementation of the relevant workplan items and the other work carried out. The presentations will also include issues from the technical reports of the ICPs and workshops.

13. The Working Group is expected to take note of the technical reports and the completion of the respective 2014–2015 workplan items. It may wish to provide guidance for future work.
