

CONTENTS

	Page
Preface .....	vi
 Chapter
I. FRAMEWORK FOR THE HOUSING SECTOR .....	1
Introduction .....	1
A. Physical context .....	2
B. Political context .....	4
C. Economic context .....	9
D. Social context.....	13
II. HOUSING STOCK AND CONSTRUCTION.....	19
A. The existing housing stock.....	19
B. Housing markets – dwellings and land .....	27
C. Apartment blocks: the big challenge.....	30
D. New housing construction.....	32
Conclusions.....	35
III. INSTITUTIONAL FRAMEWORK .....	37
Introduction .....	37
A. Governmental structures .....	38
B. Local authorities.....	43
C. Private individuals and associations .....	46
D. Private sector organizations .....	51
E. Non-governmental organizations.....	54
Conclusions.....	59
IV. LEGAL FRAMEWORK .....	61
A. General legal provisions for housing .....	61
B. Privatization and restitution of housing.....	64
C. The legal framework for owner-occupied dwellings .....	66
D. The rental housing sector .....	68
E. Legislation regulating the development process .....	70
F. Legislation regulating the financial aspects of the housing sector.....	72
Conclusions.....	75
V. FINANCIAL FRAMEWORK.....	77
A. Housing and the national economy .....	77
B. Factors affecting demand for housing.....	79
C. Public spending on housing .....	81
D. Mortgage markets .....	86
E. Typical financing structures.....	91
Summary and recommendations.....	95

ANNEX

Earthquake zones

TABLES

1. Existing housing stock by number and ownership, 1993-99
2. Main economic indicators, 1999
3. Housing stock, population and household size, 1995-99
4. Housing consumption in 11 countries in transition, 1994
5. Age of the housing stock, 1992
6. Technically amortized buildings
7. Housing stock by type of building
8. Dwellings by size, 1999
9. Occupied dwellings by household size and number of rooms, 1992
10. Amenities in urban and rural areas, 1992
11. Construction companies by ownership and size, 1995-98
12. Construction company turnover, 1997-98
13. Role of the construction sector and its output (1990-99)
14. Construction work under contract by category of object, 1998
15. Housing investment as a percentage of GDP, 1995, 1997 and 1998
16. Authorized housing construction by main financing source, 1991-98
17. Authorized housing construction by main financing source, 2000 (1st quarter)
18. Real salary index
19. NHA criteria (as of May 2000)
20. Interest rates for non-bank customers, 1997-98

FIGURES

- I. Framework for the analysis of the housing sector in Romania
- II. Map of Romania
- III. Ownership of housing stock, 1993-99
- IV. Administrative boundaries
- V. Ordinary and problematic investment in housing
- VI. Main demographic data
- VII. Romania's population pyramid
- VIII. Dwelling/population ratio, 1995-99
- IX. Housing consumption in selected countries, 1994
- X. Age of the housing stock in selected countries in transition
- XI. Construction quality
- XII. Housing stock by type of building, 1992
- XIII. Dwellings by size, 1999

- XIV. Occupied dwellings and household size
- XV. Amenities in urban and rural areas
- XVI. Urban/rural housing construction, 1990-99
- XVII. New public and private housing construction, 1993-99
- XVIII. Amenities in new housing, 1990-98
- XIX. Ministry of Public Works, Transport and Housing
- XX. Dambovita county council