Article 12
Passing of oncoming traffic

1. When passing oncoming traffic, a driver shall leave sufficient lateral space and, if necessary, move close to the edge of the carriageway appropriate to the direction of traffic. ARTICLE 20
Rules applicable to pedestrians

3. If it is not possible to use pavements (sidewalks) or verges, or if none is provided, pedestrians may walk on the carriageway; ...

4. Pedestrians walking on the carriageway in accordance with paragraphs 2 and 3 of this Article shall keep as close as possible to the edge of the carriageway.

5. It is recommended that domestic legislation should provide as follows: pedestrians walking on the carriageway shall keep to the side opposite to that appropriate to the direction of traffic except where to do so places them in danger.

However, persons pushing a cycle, a moped or a motorcycle, and groups of pedestrians led by a person in charge or forming a procession shall in all cases keep to the side of the carriageway appropriate to the direction of traffic. ...
ARTICLE 20

(b) If vehicular traffic is not regulated at that crossing by traffic light signals or by an authorized official, drivers shall approach the crossing only at a speed low enough not to endanger pedestrians using, or about to use, it; if necessary, they shall stop to allow such pedestrians to cross.
ARTICLE 21
Behaviour of drivers towards pedestrians

(b) Drivers shall be forbidden:

(i) To have their vehicles standing or parked elsewhere than at marked parking sites; if a vehicle is compelled to stop, its driver shall endeavour to move it off the carriageway and also off the flush verge and, if he is unable to do so, immediately signal the presence of the vehicle at a distance so as to warn approaching drivers in time;

Road signs
sition/placement

ARTICLE 6

1. Signs shall be so placed that the drivers for whom they are intended can recognize them easily and in time. They shall normally be placed on the side of the road appropriate to the direction of traffic; they may, however, be placed or repeated above the carriageway. Any sign placed on the side of the road appropriate to the direction of traffic shall be repeated above or on the other side of the carriageway if local conditions are such that it might not be seen in time by the drivers for whom it is intended.

4. It is recommended that domestic legislation should provide:

(a) That signs shall be so placed that they do not obstruct vehicular traffic on the carriageway, and, if placed on the verges, obstruct pedestrians as little as possible. The difference in level between the carriageway on the side where a sign is placed and the lower edge of the sign shall be as uniform as possible for signs of the same class on the same route;
(b) That the dimensions of sign panels shall be such that the sign is easily visible for a distance and can be easily understood by a person approaching it; subject to the provisions of subparagraph (c) of this paragraph, these dimensions shall be adapted to the normal speed of vehicles;

(c) That the dimensions of danger warning signs and of regulatory signs (except special regulation signs) shall be standardized in the territory of each Contracting Party. As a general rule, there shall be four sizes for each type of sign: small, normal, large and very large. Small signs shall be used where conditions do not permit the use of normal signs or where traffic can only move slowly; they may also be used to repeat a preceding sign. Large signs shall be used on very wide roads carrying high-speed traffic. Very large signs shall be used on roads carrying very high-speed traffic, such as motorways.
PLACEMENT

ARTICLE 9

3. Danger warning signs shall be placed at such distance from the danger point as will make them most effective both by day and by night, having regard to road and traffic conditions, including the normal speed of vehicles and the distance at which the sign is visible.

4. The distance between the sign and the beginning of a dangerous section of road may be shown in an additional panel H, 1 of Annex 1, section H to this Convention and placed in accordance with the provisions of that section; this information must be given when the distance between the sign and the beginning of the dangerous section of road cannot be judged by drivers and is not what they might normally expect.

5. Danger warning signs may be repeated, particularly on motorways and roads treated as motorways. Where they are repeated, the distance between the sign and the beginning of the dangerous section of road shall be shown in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 4 of this Article.

Reservations

- Reservations enable a State to participate in a treaty in which it may not otherwise be able to participate due to an unacceptable provision or provisions.
- Reservations are unilateral statements, however phrased or named, purporting to exclude or modify the legal effect of certain provisions of a treaty in their application to the reserving State. The title does not matter – only the effect.
- May be entitled “reservation”, “declaration”, “understanding”, “interpretative declaration” or “interpretative statement”.
- If the “declaration” excludes or modifies the legal effect of certain provisions of a treaty in their application to the State in question, it is a reservation.
Reservations (cont’d)

• Only the Head of State or Government, or the MFA, or a person having delegated authority for that person, can sign a reservation.

• Reservations may be formulated/signed upon signature, ratification, acceptance, approval, accession etc unless:
  – the reservation is prohibited by the treaty,
  – the reservation is not included in the list of specified reservations, or – incompatible with the object and purpose of the treaty.

• Where a treaty is silent on reservations and a State formulates a reservation, the depositary informs the States concerned and leaves it to each State to draw the legal consequences from such reservations. Unless a State objects within 12 months, it is presumed to have accepted the reservation.
1968 Convention on Road Traffic

ARTICLE 54

1. Any State may, at the time of signing this Convention or of depositing its instrument of ratification or accession, declare that it does not consider itself bound by Article 52 of this Convention. Other Contracting Parties shall not be bound by Article 52 with respect to any Contracting Party which has made such a declaration.

2. At the time of depositing its instrument of ratification or accession, any State may, by notification addressed to the Secretary-General, declare that for the purposes of the application of the Convention it treats mopeds as motorcycles (Article 1 (n)).

By notification addressed to the Secretary-General, any State may subsequently at any time withdraw its declaration.

3. The declarations provided for in paragraph 2 of this Article shall become effective six months after the date of receipt by the Secretary-General of notification of them or on the date on which the Convention enters into force for the State making the declaration, whichever is the later.

4. Any modification of a previously selected distinguishing sign notified in conformity with Article 45, paragraph 4, or Article 46, paragraph 3 of this Convention, shall take effect three months after the date on which the Secretary-General receives notification thereof.

5. Reservations to this Convention and its annexes, other than the reservation provided for in paragraph 1 of this Article, shall be permitted on condition that they are formulated in writing and, if formulated before the deposit of the instrument of ratification or accession, are confirmed in that instrument. The Secretary-General shall communicate such reservations to all States referred to in Article 45, paragraph 1, of this Convention.

Declarations

• A State may make a declaration about its understanding of a matter contained in or the interpretation of a particular provision in a treaty.

• Example: Article 46(2)(a) of the Convention on Road Signs and Signals of 1968 provides that upon the deposit of an instrument of ratification or accession every State shall declare which of the models it chooses as a danger warning sign and which models it chooses as a stop sign.

• Preferably signed by the Head of State, Head of Government or Minister for Foreign Affairs (to avoid complications in the event of a doubt whether the declaration constitutes a reservation, or if the declaration is legally binding upon the declarant).

Notifications

• Notifications typically provide information as required under a treaty.
• They are not legally binding and do not need to be signed by one of the three authorities.
• Example: Article 45(4) of the 1968 Convention on Road Traffic provides that States shall notify the Secretary-General of the distinguishing sign it has selected for display in international traffic on vehicles registered by it. By a further notification (to the SG), any State may change the distinguishing sign it has previously selected.
