

Implementing the 2020 World Population and Housing Census Programme: Current Overview

Srdjan Mrkić, United Nations Statistics Division

The 2020 World Population and Housing Census Programme essentially calls on all countries/areas to conduct a population and housing census - or otherwise produce census statistics - at least once in the period 2015-2024. The COVID-19 pandemic has severely impacted on the implementation of this at national levels. This presentation aims to outline the current state of the art of census taking worldwide.
