Proposal to correct the entry for UN No. 1005 in Table C in the English and Russian versions

Transmitted by the Government of Germany

Introduction

The French and German language versions of ADN 2013 contain the following hazards in subsection 3.2.3.2 of ADN, Table C, column (5), regarding the entry for UN No. 1005, AMMONIA, ANHYDROUS: 2.3 + 8 + 2.1 + N1.

However, hazard 2.1 is missing in column (5) in both the English and Russian language versions.

Proposal

The English and Russian language versions should be corrected accordingly.

Justification

It is appropriate to mention hazard 2.1 for UN No. 1005 in Table C although it is not mentioned in Table A. This hazard only applies if the substance is carried in large quantities in tankers. Moreover, ADN 2007 mentioned it in Table C.
