Regulation 13
Transitional Provisions

Presentation in conjunction with GRRF-75-40 which has been updated to ECE/TRANS/WP29/GRRF/2014/7

Prepared by the ad hoc group on Transitional Provisions
Aim

• To update the Transitional Provisions of Regulation 13 to include a provision for the removal of the ESC warning signal from Regulation 13 and inclusion in Regulation 121 (Identification of Controls)
Objectives

• Update the transitional provisions to reflect only current extant requirements

• Update these requirements, where possible, to use the standardised statements for transitional provisions in the UN ECE Guidelines document ECE/TRANS/WP.29/1044/Rev.1

• Include a new transitional provision for the removal of the ESC warning signal

• Include any new transitional provisions that arise from amendments to Regulation 13 during GRRF 76
Methodology

• Examine all the existing transitional provisions (24) and establish whether the provision contains historical dates.

• Remove all the provisions that are historical as they no longer apply to new approvals (13).

• Examine the outstanding provisions to establish whether any have implementation dates that will become historical during this piece of work and remove them (3).

• The remaining provisions should be the ones that are still extant and therefore are to be kept (8).

• Update the provisions where possible in the language of the guidelines issued

• Insert new provision for the removal of the ESC warning signal
