China’s Promotion to EATL: play an active role

Mr. SunXiangjun
Transport Planning and Research Institute Ministry of Transport
P. R. China
1. transport of goods between China and Eurasia especially container transport developed well
Maritime is the main mode of trade transportation
Rail is becoming an important mode of freight transport between China and Eurasian countries.
Road is the main mode of transport between China and Central Asia.
2. China is speeding up the construction of transport infrastructure.

In 2014, new building highway is about 7000KM, and new building railway is about 8000KM.
3. what we do next

- promoting the construction of some key projects
- playing an active role in reducing the non-physical barriers
Thank you for your attention